Thirty progressive studies in the first position Nicolas Laoureux, 1923 Classical and Romantic Music David Milsom, 2017-07-05 This volume brings together twenty two of the most diverse and stimulating journal articles on classical and romantic performing practice representing a rich vein of enquiry into epochs of music still very much at the forefront of current concert repertoire In so doing it provides a wide range of subject based scholarship It also reveals a fascinating window upon the historical performance debate of the last few decades in music where such matters still stimulate controversy Henryk Wieniawski and the 19th Century Violin Schools Maciej Jabłoński, Danuta Jasińska, 2006 The International, 1914 String Music in Print Margaret K. Farish, 1984 Performing Beethoven Robin Stowell, 1994-09-08 The ten essays in this volume explore different aspects of the performance of instrumental works by Beethoven Each essay discusses performance issues from Beethoven's time to the present whether the objective be to realise a performance in an historically appropriate manner to elucidate the interpretation of Beethoven's music by conductors and performers to clarify transcriptions by editors or to reconstruct the experience of the listener in various different periods Four contributions focus on the piano music while another group concentrates on Beethoven's music for strings These chapters are complemented by an examination of Beethoven's exploitation of the developing wind choir an evaluation of early twentieth century recordings as pointers to early nineteenth century performance practice and an historical survey of rescoring in Beethoven's symphonies
