

A group of eleven people, seven men and four women, are posed in a traditional Chinese courtyard. They are dressed in various styles of traditional Chinese clothing, including qipaos and jackets. The group is arranged in two rows, with some people standing and others seated or kneeling in the front. The background features a traditional Chinese building with a tiled roof and a courtyard with a bicycle on the left. The overall tone is warm and nostalgic.

Memories of Peking Haiyin Lin,Nancy Ing,Bangyuan Qi,1992-01 In five stories with a continuing cast of characters and many of the qualities of a novel Memories of Peking South Side Stories portrays Peking of the 1930s as seen through the eyes of a little girl These stories differ greatly from many other books on life in China whether about past times or the present day in that they neither dwell on politics nor try to propound beliefs of any kind The stories are simple direct and personal The reader experiences life in Peking through the eyes and innocent mind of the child The author is well known for her perception and humor She handles with great sensitivity and lyricism the sense of loss and bewilderment that arouses the child's awareness of the uncertainties of human relationships even of life itself and which finally catapults her away from childhood joys into the sorrows of the adult world Eileen Chang: The Performativity of Self-Translation Jessica Tsui-yan Li, 2025-06-16 Eileen Chang The Performativity of Self Translation by Jessica Tsui-yan Li focuses on the self translation of Zhang Ailing Eileen Chang 1920 1995 one of the most important Chinese writers of the twentieth century Although self translation is overlooked in most studies of her work Chang's literary achievements are attributed in part to her lifelong self translation of her lived experiences and family sagas as well as her bilingualism This book enriches current studies of self translation by proposing a new hypothesis of theorizing self translation as a performative act characterized by its in-betweenness and the aesthetic freedom that the self translator enjoys contextualized within larger debates about translation and the specific practice of self translation in Chinese history in comparison to its Western counterpart Global Identities in Transit Bouchra
