Middleton The Global Casino 4th Edition:

The Global Casino: An Introduction to Environmental Issues, Fourth Edition Nick Middleton, 2013-11-26
The Global Casino is a compelling introduction to environmental issues which links the physical environment to its political, social and economic contexts. Case studies from around the globe are used to illustrate key environmental issues from global warming and deforestation to natural hazards and soil erosion. The book highlights the underlying causes behind environmental problems including human actions and emphasises the potential for solutions. In line with contemporary international trends, emphasis is placed on the critical concept of sustainable development. This new edition has been thoroughly revised and updated with the introduction of new illustrative material and up to the minute case studies on topics such as endangered deep sea species, the global uptake of unleaded petrol, geothermal energy in Iceland, genocide in Rwanda and the Indian Ocean tsunami of 2004. Particularly useful features for students include points for discussion at the end of each chapter as well as a comprehensive glossary. The lists of key readings and websites again linked specifically to the content of each chapter have been fully updated and expanded. The Global Casino is the essential course companion for students of the environment, geography, earth sciences and development studies. A-level Geography Topic Master: Coastal Landscapes Peter Stiff, 2019-01-07
Exam board: AQA, Edexcel, OCR, WJEC, Eduqas

A level Master the in-depth knowledge and higher level skills that A level Geography students need to succeed. This focused topic book extends learning far beyond your course textbooks. Blending detailed content and case studies with questions, exemplars and guidance, this book significantly improves students' knowledge and understanding of A level content and concepts, providing more coverage of Coastal Landscapes than your existing resources. Strengthens students' analytical and interpretative skills through questions that involve a range of geographical data sources with guidance on how to approach each task. Demonstrates how to evaluate issues with a dedicated section in every chapter that shows how to think geographically, consider relevant evidence and structure a balanced essay. Equips students with everything they need to excel from additional case studies and definitions of key terminology to suggestions for further research and fieldwork ideas for the Independent Investigation. Helps students check, apply and consolidate their learning using end of chapter refresher questions and discussion points plus tailored advice for the AQA, Edexcel, OCR and WJEC Eduqas specifications. Offers trusted and reliable content written by a team of highly experienced senior examiners and reviewed by academics with unparalleled knowledge of the latest geographical theories.

Encyclopedia of Environmental Change John A. Matthews, 2013-12-13
Accessibly written by a team of international authors, the Encyclopedia of Environmental Change provides a gateway to the complex facts, concepts, techniques, methodology and philosophy of environmental change. change Diverse evidence of environmental change including climate change and changes on land and in the oceans Underlying natural and anthropogenic causes and mechanisms Wide ranging local regional and global impacts from the polar regions to the tropics Responses of geo ecosystems and human environmental systems in the face of past present and future environmental change Approaches methodologies and techniques used for reconstructing dating monitoring modelling projecting and predicting change Social economic and political dimensions of environmental issues environmental conservation and management and environmental policy Over 4 000 entries explore the following key themes and more Conservation Demographic change Environmental management Environmental policy Environmental security Food security Glaciation Green Revolution Human impact on environment Industrialization Landuse change Military impacts on environment Mining and mining impacts Nuclear energy Pollution Renewable resources Solar energy Sustainability Tourism Trade Water resources Water security Wildlife conservation The comprehensive coverage of terminology includes layers of entries ranging from one line definitions to short essays making this an invaluable companion for any student of physical geography environmental geography or environmental sciences A Dictionary of Human Geography Noel Castree, Rob Kitchin, Alisdair Rogers, 2013-04-25 This new dictionary provides over 2 000 clear and concise entries on human geography covering basic terms and concepts as well as biographies organisations and major periods and schools Authoritative and accessible this is a must have for every student of human geography as well as for professionals and interested members of the public The Human Impact on the Natural Environment Andrew S. Goudie, 2013-04-02 The seventh edition of this classic student text explores the multitude of impacts that humans have had over time upon vegetation animals soils water landforms and the atmosphere It also looks into the future and considers the ways in which climate changes and modifications in land cover may change the environment in coming decades Extensively re written it contains many new statistical tables figures and references It is essential reading for undergraduates in geography and environmental science and for those who want a thorough wide ranging and balanced overview of the impacts of humans upon natural processes and systems from the Stone Age to the Anthropocene and who wish to understand the major environmental issues that concern the human race at the present time Additional resources for this book can be found at www.wiley.com/go/goudiehumanimpact Oceans: A Very Short Introduction Dorrik Stow, 2018-01-25 The importance of the oceans to life on Earth cannot be overstated Liquid water covers more than 70% of our planet's surface and in past geological time has spread over 85% Life on Earth began in the oceans over 3.5 billion years ago and remained there for the great majority of that time Today the seas still provide 99% of habitable living space the largest repository of biomass and holds the greatest number of undiscovered species on the planet Our oceans are vital for the regulation of climate and with global warming and decreasing land area they have become increasingly important as the source of food energy in the form of oil and gas and for their mineral wealth Oceans also form a key part of the biogeochemical cycles of carbon nitrogen and other elements critical to life

Nutrients in upwelling areas are spread by ocean currents and the plankton of the seas supports a wealth of wildlife. In this Very Short Introduction Dorrik Stow analyses these most important components of our blue planet and considers their relationship with and exploitation by humans. He shows how the oceans are an essential resource to our overpopulated world and discusses why exploration and greater scientific understanding of the oceans, their chemistry and their mineral wealth are now a high priority. Stow also explores what we know of how oceans originate and evolve and change the shape of the seafloor and nature of its cover, the physical processes that stir the waters and mix such a rich chemical broth and the inseparable link between oceans and climate. As polar ice melts and sea levels rise, countless millions who have made their homes on low lying lands close to the sea are threatened. As scientific exploration of the seas gathers pace, the new knowledge gained of the ocean Earth systems and their interaction with the human environment is vital to our understanding of how we can preserve these ultimately fragile environments.

ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area. These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly. Our expert authors combine facts, analysis, perspective, new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable.

Geography John Morgan, David Lambert, 2005-06-21 When Geography specialists decide they want to teach it, it can be a daunting prospect to enter a real classroom, no matter how much subject knowledge they already possess. Geography Teaching School Subjects 11-19 puts the subject into perspective and shows new teachers and student teachers how to make Geography accessible and interesting for their pupils. Divided into three sections, the book examines the theory and practice of teaching geography. Section one explores how teachers can frame their own knowledge for classroom practice; section two focuses on Geography in the classroom and curriculum development, as well as aspects of pedagogy and lesson design, evaluation and assessment; section three focuses on the teachers themselves and how they can view and work on professional development within their own subject area.

The status and distribution of freshwater biodiversity in the eastern Mediterranean Kevin G. Smith, Violeta Barrios, William R.T. Darwall, Catherine Numa, 2014-01-01 The Eastern Mediterranean region supports just over 4.4% of the global human population yet contains only 1.1% of its renewable water resources, which are under constant threat from the impacts of unsustainable water withdrawal, dam development and climate change. This IUCN report and accompanying dataset represents a major advance in the provision of information to help incorporate biodiversity needs into water development planning processes within an Integrated River Basin Management framework. This volume includes species information compiled for each river and lake sub-basin and incorporates information from the assessment conducted by IUCN's Global Species Programme in collaboration with its partners on the status and distribution of all described species of freshwater fishes, molluscs, odonates and plants from across the Eastern Mediterranean, with existing information for species of freshwater dependent amphibians, birds, crustaceans and mammals. This work represents the most comprehensive assessment

yet of freshwater biodiversity at the species level for this part of the world Environmental Biogeography Paul S. Ganderton, Paddy Coker, 2005 Environmental Biogeography provides a detailed overview of the major topics within biogeography Divided into three parts the text looks at basic biological and physical processes underlying species distribution methods and analyses of distribution and human impact on past and present landscapes By creating a clear framework the book enables readers to understand how each topic is related to the overall situation illustrated through a wide range of examples taken from around the world Fundamentals of the Physical Environment Peter Smithson, Ken Addison, Ken Atkinson, 2013-09-05 Fundamentals of the Physical Environment has established itself as a well respected core introductory book for students of physical geography and the environmental sciences Taking a systems approach it demonstrates how the various factors operating at Earth's surface can and do interact and how landscape can be used to decipher them The nature of the earth its atmosphere and its oceans the main processes of geomorphology and key elements of ecosystems are also all explained The final section on specific environments usefully sets in context the physical processes and human impacts This fourth edition has been extensively revised to incorporate current thinking and knowledge and includes a new section on the history and study of physical geography an updated and strengthened chapter on climate change 9 and a strengthened section on the work of the wind a revised chapter 15 on cryosphere systems glaciers ice and permafrost a new chapter 23 on the principles of environmental reconstruction a new joint chapter 24 on polar and alpine environments a key new joint chapter 28 on current environmental change and future environments new material on the Earth System and cycling of carbon and nutrients themed boxes highlighting processes systems applications new developments and human impacts a support website at www.routledge.com/textbooks/9780415395168 with discussion and essay questions chapter summaries and extended case studies Clearly written well structured and with over 450 informative colour diagrams and 150 colour photographs this text provides students with the necessary grounding in fundamental processes whilst linking these to their impact on human society and their application to the science of the environment

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002-02 Global Environmental Issues Frances Harris, 2012-01-30 Global Environmental Issues second edition builds on the popularity of the first edition viewing global environmental problems as complex issues with a network of causes influenced by a range of actors with differing priorities The book recognises that science underpins much of what happens in society and therefore it is important to be able to interpret the environmental and social consequences of scientific developments In addition to discussing the main biophysical causes the book illustrates how socio economic and political factors determine why and how people use land resources and technology and how this in turn affects natural resource management This edition includes new chapters on the politics of science International environmental regulation and treaties environmental issues in a globalised world and natural resource management Global Environmental Issues second edition is essential reading for upper level undergraduates and Masters students within departments of Environmental Science and Geography Includes case studies from around the world to provide a real life context for the issues tackled in each chapter Considers both the results of human actions and natural environmental change in order to provide balanced in depth debate Includes coverage of contemporary hot topics such as biodiversity globalization and sustainable development Chapters authored by experts in the field Includes new chapters on The politics of science International environmental regulation and treaties Environmental issues in a globalised world and Natural Resource Management Expanded sections include negotiating multilateral environmental agreements GM crops biofuels and marine and freshwater resources
