Antitrust Policy in Health Care Markets Roger D. Blair, Christine Piette Durrance, Tirza J. Angerhofer, 2022-12-08 Health care costs in the United States are much higher than in other countries. These cost differences can be explained in part by a lack of competition in the United States. Some markets, such as pharmaceuticals and medical equipment, have elements of monopoly. Other markets, such as health insurance, have elements of monopsony. Many other markets may be subject to collusion on prices, such as generic drugs or wages, such as the nurse labor market. Lawful monopoly and monopsony are beyond the reach of antitrust laws, but collusion is not. When appropriate vigorous antitrust enforcement challenging anticompetitive conduct can aid in reducing health care costs This book addresses monopoly monopsony cartels of sellers and buyers horizontal and vertical merger policy and antitrust enforcement through private suits as well as the efforts of the antitrust Agencies The authors demonstrate how enforcing antitrust laws can ultimately promote competition and reduce health care costs Benefits and Risks of Agonist Triggering Strategies Emanuele Garzia, Jan Tesarik , Francesco Maria Fusi,2025-01-10 The use of GnRH agonists to trigger final oocyte maturation has gained momentum recently over the use of hCG in women at high risk for OHSS Because of the shorter duration of the agonist induced LH surge earlier demise of the corpus luteum CL is associated with a significant reduction in OHSS at the peril of decreased embryo implantation and increased pregnancy loss For this reason the effectiveness of GnRHa triggering was placed under scrutiny in fresh cycles while the quest for the most optimal strategies of luteal phase support LPS remains unresolved The adoption of a GnRH agonist trigger protocol with segmentation of the IVF cycle is one way of ensuring reproductive success without compromising patient safety Approval of this management approach however is subject to patients values and financial resources It is also dependent on the success of the cryopreservation program

Neoliberalism, State-Corporate Power and Regulatory Failure Rhiannon Bandiera,2025-05-23 Based on over a decade of research this book examines the social harms of Australian prescription and non prescription medicine regulation and how these ultimately stem from neoliberalism and its reinforcement of state and corporate power Neoliberalism shapes state and corporate power regulation and the harms resulting from regulatory failure yet the links between these themes are rarely discussed Drawing on the concept of hegemonic neoliberal governmentality this book critically examines Australian medicine regulation and the harms resulting from its failure in areas such as medicine quality safety and efficacy direct to consumer advertising and marketing directed at health professionals It traces these harms through the colonial foundations and evolution of medicine regulation in Australia exploring both regulatory failure and the attempts at reforming this regulatory system It argues that neoliberalism is not regulatable and reinforces and sustains itself empowering the state and corporations while disempowering the public and those representing its interests Thus reducing its harms is only achievable through broader transformative change rather than by reforming and thereby continuing to work within the existing neoliberal capitalist system Neoliberalism State Corporate Power and Regulatory Failure will be of value to practitioners members of the public and private sector and academics active in the fields of state corporate and state corporate crime social harm and regulation as well as to those new to the study of medicine related harms It will also be of interest to all those concerned about their health and the medicines they use The French Invention of Menopause and the Medicalisation of Women's Ageing Alison M. Downham Moore,2022-10-06 Doctors writing about menopause in France vastly outnumbered those in other cultures throughout the entire nineteenth century The concept of menopause was invented by French male medical students in the aftermath of the French Revolution becoming an important pedagogic topic and a common theme of doctors professional identities in postrevolutionary biomedicine Older women were identified as an important patient cohort for the expanding medicalisation of French society and were advised to entrust themselves to the hygienic care of doctors in managing the whole era of life from around and after the final cessation of menses However menopause owed much of its conceptual weft to earlier themes of women as the sicker sex of vitalist crisis of the vapours and of astrological climacteric years This is the first comprehensive study of the origins of the medical concept of menopause richly contextualising its role in nineteenth century French medicine and revealing the complex threads of meaning that informed its invention It tells a complex story of how women s ageing featured in the demographic revolution in modern science in the denigration of folk medicine in the unique French field of hygiene and in the fixation on women in the emergence of modern psychiatry It reveals the nineteenth century French origins of the still current medical and alternative health approaches to women s ageing as something to be managed through gynaecological surgery hormonal replacement and lifestyle intervention
