Undergraduate Announcement University of Michigan--Dearborn, 1983 Teaching Science to Language Minority Students Judith W. Rosenthal, 1996 In the USA the number of college students with limited English proficiency is increasing Even after successfully completing a course of English as a second language many face both linguistic and cultural barriers in mainstream classes This book focuses on both the theory and practice of assisting such students especially in the sciences As the number of non native English speaking students increases at colleges and universities innovative approaches are needed to successfully educate this population and how science is taught may be crucial Instruction in the students native language may become increasingly important in attracting and retaining non native English speakers in college This book is aimed primarily at staff who teach science to LEP undergraduates but others who should be interested include staff involved with postgraduate students and high school science teachers

Contemporary Perspectives in English Language Studies: Linguistics and Literature (Penerbit USM) Sarjit Kaur, Shakila Abdul Manan, 2014-11 Discussing contemporary perspectives and new developments in the field of English language studies has gained ascendancy in view of the fact that such concerns about learning and teaching English make important contributions to society Such discussions are of critical importance in today's globalised societies and more needs to be done towards collaboratively presenting the growing wealth of quality research in linguistics and literature Linguists and scholars continue to champion the need to interrogate the discourse of literary and language texts using a number of critical frameworks that help sensitise readers to the ideological nature of literary discourse and the ways in which certain dominant ideas of nation race ethnicity and gender are ratified or challenged Readers need to be constantly challenged to think interpret and evaluate differing views and perspectives The collection of chapters in this book explores contemporary issues and perspectives in linguistics and literature among educators and researchers whose primary focus is to examine the manner in which English is used for various educational purposes from traditional curriculum demands to answering broader questions about human knowledge global citizenship and social engagement

Narrowing the Development Gap in ASEAN Mark McGillivray, David Carpenter, 2013-04-12 An important part of the vision of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN is to ensure that the benefits of development and economic integration are equitably shared by all member states and their citizens ASEAN's work therefore aims to narrow the development gap between ASEAN member states Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore Thailand Brunei Darussalam Myanmar Cambodia Laos and Vietnam and between sub regions within ASEAN Written by a team of internationally recognised experts in development economics this book communicates the latest findings on narrowing the development gap in a practical policy relevant way in a format that can influence decision makers within ASEAN member states and international donors There have been significant development achievements in many ASEAN countries over the last 20 years but the ASEAN region continues to be characterised by significant development gaps particularly in income

Gaps in development achievement are also seen at the regional and sub national levels This book offers a better understanding of development gaps as they exist in 2012 and provides important context that can inform the strategic needs of decision makers in the ASEAN region Due to improvements in conceptualising and measuring well being including through the use of multidimensional indicators this book gives policy makers and scholars in development economics development policy and Asian studies well grounded insights into the nature of the development gaps within and between ASEAN countries as well as high level policy advice on those interventions that can contribute to a narrowing of the development gap
