Global Portuguese Luiz Paulo Moita-Lopes, 2014-12-17 This book aims at deconstructing and problematizing linguistic ideologies related to Portuguese in late modernity and questioning the theoretical presuppositions which have led us to call Portuguese a language. Such an endeavor is crucial when we know that Portuguese is a language which is increasingly internationalized, used as the official language in four continents in ten countries and which has come to play a relevant role in the so-called linguistic market on the basis of the geopolitical transformations in a multipolar world. The book covers a wide range of social, political, and historical contexts in which Portuguese is used in Brazil, Canada, East Timor, England, Portugal, Mozambique, and Uruguay and considers diverse linguistic practices. Through this critique, contributors chart new directions for research on language ideologies and language practices, including research related to Portuguese and to other languages and consider ways of developing new conceptual compasses that are better attuned to the sociolinguistic realities of the late modern era in which people, texts, and languages are increasingly in movement through national borders and those of digital networks of communication.

The Americas Award Loretta Henderson, 2015-12-16 First awarded in 1993, the Americas Award is given in recognition of books that authentically and engagingly portray Latino as in Latin America, the Caribbean, or the United States. By combining both and linking the Americas, the award reaches beyond geographic borders as well as multicultural international boundaries, focusing instead upon cultural heritages within the hemisphere. The Award is unique in that it selects Latino youth literature for classroom use and in that it focuses on the entire Western Hemisphere. Scholars from the fields of literature, education, library science, and theater engage with Latino Critical Race Theory. LatCrit in this e-collection of essays about the Americas Award: the Award-winning and honored books and the contexts in which the books are used. This collection offers essays on the history of the award, close readings of Award-winning and honored books situated in the classroom, and discussions of how best to use the books in the classroom, library, and theater.

International Handbook of Reading Education Betty J. Eller, John Hladczuk, 1992-07-27 As major political and social changes continue to sweep through the countries of the world and more and more nations move toward forms of social democracy, the importance of being able to read has taken on a new urgency. The burden of government, commerce, education, and social welfare is moving increasingly toward the individual, and with it, the need to turn basic reading skills into the sophisticated ability to analyze, comprehend, and debate the whole world of language in front of him. This book offers an opportunity to see how the process of learning to read is being handled in a broad cross-section of countries in the world representing the First, Second, and Third Worlds. Each of the twenty-six country surveys has been written by an international scholar indigenous to that land and follows the same basic pattern in examining reading education. Following a brief introduction to the nation and its particular educational characteristics ten reading associated factors are fully discussed and analyzed These factors include the language of the country in question its reading policy the goals of reading illiteracy issues pertaining to the rate and diagnosis of reading disabilities reading readiness programs the teacher qualification procedure the source and availability of materials in reading the financing of reading education and research thrusts in the field of reading Each chapter then concludes with a summary and brief bibliography of important reference sources within that country This unique study will be an essential reference tool for students and practitioners in the fields of education and reading literacy as well as a valuable addition to both public and academic libraries
