Explores the experience of one young man and the concerns about CTE he helped to illuminate and the cultural allure of football in America that keeps boys trying to make the team despite the dangers Award winning journalist Vicki Mayk raises a critical question for football players and their communities does loving a sport justify risking your life This is the insightful and deeply human story of Owen Thomas a star football player at Penn who took his own life when he was 21 the result of the pain and anguish caused by chronic traumatic encephalopathy CTE It was Owen's landmark case which demonstrated that a player didn't need years of head bashing in the NFL or even multiple sustained brain concussions to cause the mind altering life threatening degenerative disease known as CTE And Owen's case could not have come to light without Dr Ann McKee the neuropathologist who bucked conventional wisdom and the football establishment as she examined Owen's brain and its larger significance building an ever stronger case that said at the very least football should not be played by children under the age of 14 With its focus on a single life and the community touched by it Owen's family his teammates and friends his teachers and coaches and later Dr McKee Growing Up on the Gridiron explores the place of football in our lives It doesn't make a heavy handed argument to abandon the sport Rather it explores why football matters so deeply to many young men and why they continue to take risks despite the evidence of serious long term harm The Politics and Poetics of

Translation in Turkey, 1923-1960 Şehnaz Tahir Gürçağlar, 2008 The present book is a bold attempt at revealing the complex and diversified nature of the field of translated literature in Turkey during a period of radical socio political change On the broad level it investigates the implications of the political transformation experienced in Turkey after the proclamation of the Republic for the cultural and literary fields including the field of translated literature On a more specific level it holds translation under focus and explores the discourse formed on translation and translators while it also traces the norms not observed by translators throughout the 1920s 1950s in two case studies The findings of the study suggest that the concepts of translation both affected and were affected by cultural processes in the society including ideological and poetological ones and that there was no uniform way of defining or carrying out translations during the period under study. The findings also point at the segmentation of readership in early republican Turkey and conclude that the political and poetological factors governing the production and reception of translations varied for different segments of readers.
