daughters to emulate and for our sons to see as objects of desire Popular culture and technology inundate our children with an onslaught of mixed messages at earlier ages than ever before Corporations capitalize on this disturbing trend and without the emotional sophistication to understand what they are doing and seeing kids are getting into increasing trouble emotionally and socially some may even to engage in precocious sexual behavior Parents are left shaking their heads wondering How did this happen What can we do So Sexy So Soon is an invaluable and practical guide for parents who are fed up confused and even scared by what their kids or their kids friends do and say Diane E Levin Ph D and Jean Kilbourne Ed D internationally recognized experts in early childhood development and the impact of the media on children and teens understand that saying no to commercial culture TV movies toys Internet access and video games isn t a realistic or viable option for most families Instead they offer parents essential age appropriate strategies to counter the assault For instance Help your children expand their imaginations by suggesting new ways for them to play with toys for example instead of playing house with dolls they might send their toys on a backyard archeological adventure Counteract the narrow gender stereotypes in today s media ask your son to help you cook get your daughter outside to play ball Share your values and concerns with other adults relatives parents of your children s friends and agree on how you ll deal with TV and other media when your children are at one another s houses Filled with savvy suggestions helpful sample dialogues and poignant true stories from families dealing with these issues So Sexy So Soon provides parents with the information skills and confidence they need to discuss sensitive topics openly and effectively so their kids can just be kids

Social Processes in Children's Learning Paul Light, Karen Littleton, 1999 This book first published in 2000 is about children s learning and problem solving behaviour It reflects the increasingly close integration seen in recent years between social and cognitive approaches to researching the learning process In particular Paul Light and Karen Littleton examine the ways in which interactions between children influence learning outcomes They begin by placing this topic in a broad theoretical and empirical context and go on to present a substantial series of their own experimental studies which focus on children of late primary and early secondary school age These investigations address peer facilitation of problem solving social comparison effects on learning and social context effects upon the interpretation of tasks Many of the studies involve computer based learning but the findings have implications both for classroom practice and the understanding of the learning process This book will be a valuable tool for researchers teachers and practitioners interested in the social processes of children s learning

It's a Funny Thing, Humour Antony J. Chapman, Hugh C. Foot, 2013-10-22 It s a Funny Thing Humour contains the papers presented at the International Conference on Humor and Laughter held in Cardiff in July 1976 The symposium provides a platform from which authors from different professional and personal background can talk about their own definition and analysis of humor The book is structured into 10 main sections that reflect the structure of the conference and presents various studies and research on the nature of humor and laughter Contributions range from theoretical discussions to practical and experimental expositions Topics on the psychoanalytical theory of humor and laughter the nature and analysis of jokes cross cultural research of humor mirth measurement and humor as a tool of learning are some of the topics covered in the symposium Psychologists sociologists teachers communication experts psychiatrists and people who are curious to know more about humor and laughter will find the book very interesting and highly amusing Kraus' Recreation and Leisure in Modern Society Daniel D. Lawson, 1996 Preface to the first edition Constitutional Law: Rights, Liberties and Justice 8th Edition Lee Epstein, Thomas G. Walker, 2013 Judicial decisions never occur in a vacuum they are influenced by a myriad of political factors From lawyers and interest groups to the shifting sentiments of public opinion to the ideological and behavioral inclinations of the justices Epstein and Walker show how all these dynamics play an integral part in the overall development of constitutional doctrine Drawing deeply from the spheres of political science and legal studies the excerpted case material is skillfully analyzed and presented for today's students Known for fastidious revising and streamlining the authors account for the latest scholarship in the field and offer rock solid analysis of recent landmark cases including as all the important opinions handed down through 2011 Building on the successes of the 7th edition the book's clean layout and design clearly distinguishes between commentary and opinion excerpts Not only does the design make the book an easier read for students it effectively showcases photos justice biographies and the Aftermath and Global Perspective sidebars And based on positive user feedback the authors have added even more Aftermath boxes in this new edition New cases in the 8th edition Hosanna Tabor Evangelical Lutheran Church and School v Equal Employment Opportunity Commission 2012 Snyder v Phelps 2011 Brown v Entertainment Merchants Association 2011 United States v Jones 2012 Citizens United v Federal Election Commission Child Protection in Development Michael Bourdillon, William Myers, 2014-06-11 Every day millions of children in developing countries face adversities of many kinds yet there is a shortage of sound evidence concerning their plight and an urgent need to identify the most appropriate and effective policy responses from among the multiple approaches that exist This collection of journal papers aims to engage with researchers and debates in the field so as to understand better some of the numerous risks confronted by children in developing countries It highlights the complexity of protecting children in various forms of adversity challenges conventional wisdom about what protects children demonstrates why it is essential to consult with children to protect them successfully and suggests that successful protection must be based on strong empirical understanding of the situation and the perspectives of children and communities involved. The contributors are all experienced researchers and practitioners who have worked for many years with children in developing countries. The book offers suggestions for reform of current child protection policies based on empirical findings around a range of child protection concerns including children's work, independent migration, family separation, early marriage and military occupation. Together the contributions provide a body of knowledge important to humanitarian and development policy and practice. This book was published as a special issue of Development in Practice. Parenting George W.

Holden, 2019-12-19 The Third Edition of George W. Holden's Parenting: A Dynamic Perspective provides a highly accessible and intellectually rich review of what is currently known about parenting. Written from a psychological perspective but with applications to other disciplines, the text discusses a wide range of contemporary issues such as fertility problems, daycare, marital conflict, divorce, gay parents and family violence. Additionally, Holden includes studies from developing and non-Western countries as well as recent statistics on such topics as U.S. and world birthrate, birth problems, adolescent pregnancy, child injury, divorce and remarriage, child maltreatment and certain social policy issues. Gender, Sex and Children's Play Jacky Kilvington, Ali Wood, 2016-08-11 Does gender, sex and sexuality influence children's play and their learning? Can should professionals try to influence children's gender and sexual concepts? Can should professionals try to prevent gender stereotyping? These and other questions are explored in a lively and thought-provoking text that looks at why and how children inhabit or develop their gender and sexuality. Written in an approachable way and illustrated with case studies and linked to current research and theory, the book helps students, teachers and playworkers understand the debates about biology versus culture and social learning and how these impact on children's expression of gender and sexuality. Engaging the reader in a thorough reflection of their own views and approaches to the genderized and sexualized behaviour of children at play, this text is an invaluable guide for all those interested in the importance of play, gender and sexuality and how they relate to children's lives. Topics include play and the behaviour of boys and girls within particular social contexts; play and girls and boys' sexual behaviour and their associated feelings; play and children's self-concepts and expectations; the professional/adult workers' role and the manifestation of genderized and/or sexualized play behaviour both in and outside a setting. Young People, Sex and the Media D. Buckingham, S. Bragg, 2003-12-05 Are children today growing up too soon?

How do they and their parents feel about media portrayals of sex and personal relationships? Are the media a corrupting influence or a potentially positive and useful resource for young people? Drawing on an extensive research project which investigated children's interpretations of sexual content in films, TV and print media, this book considers how young people aged 9-17 use such material to understand their experiences and build their identities and how they and their parents respond to public concerns about these issues. The book offers a clearly written and entertaining insight into children's and parents perspectives on these difficult issues perspectives that are often ignored or trivialised in public debate
