Winning in Emerging Markets Tarun Khanna, Krishna G. Palepu, 2010 About the Book The best way to select emerging markets to exploit is to evaluate their size or growth potential right Not according to Tarun Khanna and Krishna Palepu In Winning in Emerging Markets these leading scholars on the subject present a decidedly different framework for making this crucial choice The authors argue that the primary exploitable characteristic of emerging markets is the lack of institutions credit card systems intellectual property adjudication data research firms that facilitate efficient business operations While such institutional voids present challenges they also provide major opportunities for multinationals and local contenders Khanna and Palepu provide a playbook for assessing emerging markets potential and for crafting strategies for succeeding in those markets They explain how to Spot institutional voids in developing economies including in product labour and capital markets as well as social and political systems Identify opportunities to fill those voids for example by building or improving market institutions yourself Exploit those opportunities through a rigorous five phase process including studying the market over time and acquiring new capabilities Packed with vivid examples and practical toolkits Winning in Emerging Markets is a crucial resource for any company seeking to define and execute business strategy in developing economies About the Authors Tarun Khanna is the Jorge Paulo Lemann Professor at Harvard Business School and the author of Billions of Entrepreneurs How China and India Are Reshaping Their Future and Yours Krishna Palepu is the Ross Graham Walker Professor of Business Administration and senior associate dean for international development at the Harvard Business School
