micro finance is a movement with the underlying objective of helping poor households to have access to financial services including credit at affordable cost Many of those who promote micro finance believe that such access will help poor people get out of poverty For others micro finance is a way to promote economic development employment and growth through the support of micro entrepreneurs and small businesses Women in India are typically poorer than men and have fewer options for earning a livelihood that provides adequate food housing and education for their children However they are also viewed as the change agents of the family Women are more likely to invest their earnings into improving the lives of the families By encouraging women to take charge of their futures micro finance institutions can impact families and whole communities However the pace of women empowerment in India through micro finance is slow due to a variety of constraints which urgently need to be rooted out This book examines some of the issues that need to be addressed in order to empower the lives of India s women through micro finance

Microfinance in the Global South Lynn Horton, 2018 Women and Microfinance in the Global South is a grounded exploration of the intersections of neoliberal ideology and feminism Women's Entrepreneurship and Microfinance Chiranjib Neogi, Amit Kumar Bhandari, Sudipto Ghosh, 2018-03-06 This book offers a critical perspective on the issues related to women's empowerment microfinance and entrepreneurship in India Written by distinguishing experts in this field this book highlights women's empowerment which is a process of entrusting power to an individual on the control over resources and decisions However these two factors are less effective in a society where religion and cultural dominance is high The book sheds light on the social security measures undertaken by the government aiming to the right to work helped women who are bounded by social restrictions Over time there is a shift in rural occupational structure towards non farm activities which is largely distress driven self employment Access to credit is a great source to provide self employment that develops self esteem among women and uplift their position The book highlights the discrimination against women entrepreneurs in access to credit led to gender biased entrepreneurial society Association with self help groups SHGs has made women more socially empowered SHG members help them to change their life in a positive manner through micro entrepreneurial activities The book has emphasized on the role of microfinance which has served the poor to become financially self reliant It is observed that for second generation borrowers the impact of microfinance seems to fizzle out where MFIs who are gaining efficiency are diverting their objective of servicing poor signalling a sign of mission drift Micro-Credit, Poverty and Empowerment Neera Burra, Joy Deshmukh-Ranadive, Ranjani K Murthy, 2005-11-05 Two persistent problems that affect a significant portion of Indian women are poverty and violation of their human rights In recent years micro credit has come to be viewed as a vital tool to ameliorate both conditions However there are few studies in the Indian context which test the validity of the assumption that there is a linear link between micro credit poverty reduction and women s empowerment This important and thought provoking volume brings together revealing case studies of micro credit interventions made by six non governmental and quasi governmental bodies in five states of peninsular India several of which have been supported by the United Nations Development Programme UNDP The six case studies are diverse in terms of their socio economic and geo political contexts the nature and ideological orientation of the intermediary organizations the groups targeted by the projects exclusively women or men and women and the life spans of the projects Despite their differences all the studies offer useful lessons on the institutional structures and processes that do or do not facilitate women s empowerment and poverty reduction while exploring the potential and limitations of micro credit to achieve these twin goals

Efficacy of micro-financing women's activities in Côte d'Ivoire Namizata Binaté Fofana, 2023-09-04 This book deals with the effectiveness and the capability of microfinance institutions MFIs to enhance women s livelihoods and empowerment and to mitigate the effects of HIV and AIDS in C te d Ivoire The results show that MFI credit causes positive and negative effects MFI credit has improved incomes the level of farm production and human and social capital MFI credit has also enhanced women s decision making power within households due to their new ability to contribute to the improvement of the household standard of living Furthermore women s empowerment regarding the demand for and the use of credit give them more opportunity to obtain MFI credit Despite the positive effects of MFIs on women s income this publication shows that loan repayment was not successful among some female borrowers due to the fact that the loan has not been used for investment purposes For MFIs the diversion of loans can endanger their functioning and sustainability and therefore their effectiveness in rural areas Regarding HIV this book highlights the diversity and the specificity of the way HIV affected individuals are financially supported by credit institutions Both the direct and indirect effects of HIV and AIDS on women s livelihood and MFIs are analysed microfinance 'plus' programme empower female farmers and pastoralists and improve intrahousehold equality in rural Ethiopia? Evidence from an impact evaluation using a Project-Women's Empowerment in Agricultural Index (pro-WEAI) survey tool Hillesland, Marya, Kaaria, Susan, Mane, Erdgin, Alemu, Mihret, Slavchevska, Vanya, 2021-07-27 Using the project Women's Empowerment in Agricultural Index pro WEAI survey tool developed by GAAP2 this study aims to estimate the impact of a microfinance plus programme on women's economic empowerment in communities in Oromia and Afar Ethiopia. The programme incorporates multiple interventions which are implemented through women-run rural savings and credit cooperatives (RUSACCOs) with the intention of improving beneficiary women's decision-making over productive assets, control over income and leadership in rural institutions. A major component of the programme is aimed at rural women's greater access to credit but interventions also include agricultural livestock and technology transfers, business training as well as a community gender awareness component. A difference-in-difference estimator with Inverse Probability Weighting (IPW) is used to evaluate the impact of the programme on women's empowerment in Oromia. Because of conflict in the area, baseline data collection was delayed and data was collected after some interventions had already begun in Oromia. As such, nearly all beneficiaries already had access to credit through the RUSACCOs at baseline and both women and men were already empowered in a number of dimensions at baseline. Among households with beneficiaries who continued in good standing between baseline and midline, the programme positively contributed to both women's and men's empowerment with regards to respect among household members. It did not lead to additional impacts in terms of overall empowerment and gender parity within the household or across the other pro-WEAI indicators. However, it appears that by maintaining good standing in the RUSACCOs, female participants were able to maintain high levels of empowerment across the other indicators. A second group of beneficiary women who either chose to leave the RUSACCO or did not maintain good standing as a member were also highly empowered across many dimensions at baseline but experienced large average decreases in empowerment across a number of indicators by midline. In Afar, using the midline data only, a single difference estimator with Inverse Probability Weighting is used to evaluate the impact of the programme. In Afar, the programme had a significant impact on women's overall empowerment. As we expected given the nature of the programme, there were significant positive results in terms of access to and decisions on financial services, group membership and membership in influential groups. There were also positive impacts on control over the use of income, suggesting that the programme contributed to greater control over the use of the output from agricultural activities and control over income from agricultural and non-agricultural activities. On the other hand, the programme also appears to have resulted in reduced empowerment on average with regards to autonomy in income.

A study on the role of micro finance institutions in economic empowerment with special reference to Changanacherry Taluk, Kerala Jose Joseph, Prem Jose Vazhacharickal, Thasni Salih, 2020-12-01

India is a home to the largest population of poor in the world and out of its total population there are nearly 75 million poor house holds in India thus it has become the prime obligation of the regulators to provide some definite solution for poverty alleviation Microfinance has several other developmental objectives like mobilization of savings It has also been used as inducers in different community development activities as an entry point in the community organizing program and as an ingredient in a larger education or training exercise For this study population consist of clients of micro financing institutions in Changanacherry Taluk In this study for the purpose of primary data collection samples were selected by using random sampling technique Sample size for the study conducted is 100 respondents of micro financing institutions The study consists of both primary and secondary data Primary data were collected through questionnaire The role of Micro Financing Institutions in economic empowerment with special reference to Changanacherry taluk was examined Key challenges facing MFIs today that are affecting their impact on poverty alleviation were seem to be an over emphasis on financial sustainability over social objectives and a failure of many MFIs to work with the poorest in society Overall Micro financing institutions has provided important contributions to the development world It was found that savings are vital and perhaps more important to people that they are probably better served by direct subsidies rather than loans Although micro financing institutions offer financial assistance to the society and prove itself a useful tool in economic empowerment
