theories and assumptions have developed into the social and behavioral sciences. In spite of differences in the terminology, it is clear that they are, for example, the theories by Freud and Skinner in the human context or the theories of Chomsky or Kahneman/Tversky in the social context. In the 1980s and 1990s, the term heuristics has been used in the social sciences and, in particular, in the field of decision-making, to give a glimpse to a commonality in theories, and, therefore, numerous books have gathered thoughts on both social and the behavioral aspects of the meaning of the word heuristics (see, for example, 1992). The key concept has a long history in literature, starting from Aristotle (1904), and has developed as rules-of-thumb. The question is whether it is the word heuristics originating from the scientific community or rules-of-thumb. And, heuristics is a definition.

The Emergence of the Interior Charles Rice, 2006-11-22 Taking a radical position counter to many previous histories and theories of the interior domesticity and the home The Emergence of the Interior considers how the concept and experience of the domestic interior have been formed from the beginning of the nineteenth century It considers the interior's emergence in relation to the thinking of Walter Benjamin and Sigmund Freud and through case studies in architecture's trajectories toward modernism The book argues that the interior emerged with a sense of doubleness being understood and experienced as both a spatial and an image based condition Incorporating perspectives from architecture critical history and theory and psychoanalysis The Emergence of the Interior will be of interest to architects intentions and the constructed result Yet as any architectural practitioner will know it is doubtful whether the construction of any architectural project may ever exactly match all written and drawn predictions This book challenges claims to certainty which have been attributed to such communications from the mid nineteenth century onwards and critiques ongoing expectations of certainty in contemporary architectural production Region Simon Richards, Robert Schmidt III, Cagri Sanliturk, Falli Palaiologou, 2023-07-28 This book explores how the concept of region has evolved over time and shaped architectural culture and practice It questions what the words region and regional mean for architecture cities and landscapes past and present and speculates on the forms they might take in the future Region is explored in many thematic guises as a real geographical site of evolving socio economic activity as a mythical locus of enduring value as a gatekeeper of indigenous crafts and vernacular techniques as a site of architectural and artistic imagination as a repository of contested conflicted and mobile identities The contributing chapters take these themes from the theoretical and literary page through to architectural and urban practice and from the scale of the domestic hearth through to the ocean archipelago and international law enriching the long standing trope of viewing architectural regionalism purely as a matter of style Curated into four key thematic areas Theorised Regions Contested Regions Heritage Regions and Future Regions the book incorporates the values concerns and approaches of a truly diverse international community of scholars curators and practitioners as well as the design work of international students tasked to explore what region means to them Theorie der Architektur Sebastian Feldhusen, Ute Poerschke, 2017-09-25 Die Theorie der Architektur bringt als Forschungsfeld so vielfältige Disziplinen wie Anthropologie Architektur und Kunstgeschichte Architektur und Kunsttheorie Linguistik Philologie Philosophie Psychologie Soziologie und Urbanistik in ein Gespräch über Architektur zusammen 24 Autoren präsentieren zeitgenössische Positionen zur Theorie der Architektur die in drei Kapiteln nach ihren verschiedenen Untersuchungsgegenständen geordnet sind Begriffe Diskurse Ideen Dinge Räume Bauten Praktiken Erfahrungen Aneignungen Das Buch erscheint zu Ehren des Architekturtheoretikers Eduard Föhr Die Autoren Böhlinger de Bruyn Dreyer Feldhusen Friesen Föhr Gleiter Genter Hahn Harries Hasse Janson Lampugnani Leatherbarrow Miller Moravcsik Neumeyer Oechslin Pérez Gómez Poerschke Sieverts Staub Wagner Waldenfels A Field Guide to a New Meta-field Barbara Maria Stafford, 2011-06 Includes bibliographical references and index The Rise of Awards in Architecture Jean-Pierre Chupin, Carmela Cucuzzella, Georges Adamczyk, 2022-09-06 This book is the first scientific study to focus on awards in architecture and the built environment investigating their exponential growth since the 1980s The celebration of excellence in architecture and related fields remains a phenomenon on which there is strangely little scientific scrutiny What is to be understood from the plethora of award winning projects award winning buildings and awarded professional practices in the built environment year after year Glossy images partake in an intense ballet at every local regional national or international award ceremony and they are meant to embody proofs of architectural excellence However it is necessary to take a critical distance to question what awards are meant to embody symbolize and perhaps measure Each of the 10 chapters in this volume is centered on one question related to themes as varied as the comparison of Pritzker and Nobel Prizes the Prix de Rome the redefinition of quality through awards green awards and sustainability the multiplication of sustainable awards heritage awards architecture book awards the awarding of school architecture awards as mediations and awards as pedagogical devices Many fields once consolidated have featured a sharp increase in related prizes The original data compiled and summarized in 4 appendices cover more than 150 award granting organizations in some 30 countries Our inventory includes upwards of 24 000 prizes awarded at more than 3 100 events the earliest of which is the first instance of Western architecture's seminal Grand Prix de Rome in France in 1720 A history of contemporary architecture is thus written through press releases that praise the merits of the heroes as much as their works and achievements And while awards can be vehicles that propel architecture forward they can also be Trojan horses in an era that is constantly on the lookout for event driven products small and big news and brand imaging

Nelson Goodman and Modern Architecture Kasper Lægring, 2024-07-19 This book orchestrates a convergence of two discourses from the 1960s Nelson Goodman's aesthetic theory on one side and critiques of modern architecture articulated by figures like Peter Blake Charles Jencks and Robert Venturi Denise Scott Brown on the other Grounded in Goodman's aesthetic theory the book explores his conceptual framework within the context of modern architecture At the heart of the investigation lies Goodman's concept of exemplification While his notion of denotation pertains to representational elements often ornaments in architecture exemplification accentuates specific formal properties at the expense of others including color spatial orientation transparency seriality and the like Supplemented by findings from phenomenology the book traces these effects in buildings notably those by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe Walter Gropius Le Corbusier and Frank Lloyd Wright all key figures in the critiques of modern architecture Employing Goodman's framework the book aims to address accusations of emptiness and alienation directed at modern architecture in the postwar era It illustrates that modern architecture symbolizes aesthetically in a fundamentally different way than architecture from earlier periods This book will be of interest to architects artists researchers and students in architecture architectural history theory cultural theory philosophy and aesthetics

The Autopoiesis of Architecture, Volume I Patrik Schumacher, 2011-04-20 Take a theoretical approach to architecture with The Autopoiesis of Architecture which presents the topic as a discipline with its own unique logic Architecture's conception of itself is addressed as well as its development within wider contemporary society Author Patrik Schumacher offers innovative treatment that enriches architectural theory with a coordinated arsenal of concepts facilitating both detailed analysis and insightful comparisons with other domains such as art science and politics He explores how the various modes of communication comprising architecture depend upon each other combine and form a unique subsystem of society that co evolves with other important autopoietic subsystems like art science politics and the economy The first of two volumes that together present a comprehensive account of architecture's autopoiesis this book elaborates the theory of architecture's autopoiesis in 8 parts 50 sections and 200 chapters Each of the 50 sections poses a thesis drawing a central message from the insights articulated within the respective section The 200 chapters are gathering and sorting the accumulated intelligence of the discipline according to the new conceptual framework adopted in order to catalyze and elaborate the new formulations and insights that are then encapsulated in the theses However while the theoretical work in the text of the chapters relies on the rigorous build up of a new theoretical language the theses are written in ordinary language with the theoretical concepts placed in brackets The full list of the 50 theses affords a convenient summary printed as appendix at the end of the book The second volume completes the analysis of the discourse and further proposes a new agenda for contemporary architecture in response to the challenges and opportunities that confront architectural design within the context of current societal and technological developments

On Bramante Pier Paolo Tamburelli, 2022-05-10 A new interpretation of the work of Bramante suggesting an agenda for contemporary architectural practice In On Bramante architect Pier Paolo Tamburelli considers the work of the celebrated Italian Renaissance architect Donato Bramante and through this reappraisal suggests a possible agenda for current architectural practice Bramante Tamburelli argues offers an excellent starting point to imagine a contemporary theory of space to reflect on the relationship between architecture and politics and to look back with neither nostalgia nor contempt at the tradition of Western classicism Starting from a discussion of the difference in the work of Bramante in Milan 1481 1499 and Rome 1499 1514 Tamburelli highlights the peculiarities of Bramante's architecture especially in comparison to that of his predecessor Leon Battista Alberti and successor Andrea Palladio This in turn opens up new possibilities for appreciating his spatial experiments and to derive from Bramante's abstraction and disassociation of form from function a revised theory of space for contemporary architecture Such a theory might even advance a newfound political understanding of classicism and a model perhaps more valid now than ever before for a public architecture The text is bookended by a series of color photographic plates of Bramante's works by photographer Bas Princen building materials and city spaces As well as critical theory philosophy literature and experimental design it refers to more immediate and topical issues in the built environment such as globalisation localism regeneration and ecologies Concise and engaging entries reflect on architecture from a range of perspectives Contributors include eminent historians and theorists from elsewhere such as Jean Louis Cohen Briony Fer Hilde Heynen Mary McLeod Griselda Pollock Penny Sparke and Anthony Vidler as well as Forty's colleagues from the Bartlett School of Architecture including Iain Borden Murray Fraser Peter Hall Barbara Penner Jane Rendell and Andrew Saint Forty Ways to Think about Architecture also features contributions from distinguished architects such as Tony Fretton Jeremy Till and Sarah Wigglesworth and well known critics and architectural writers such as Tom Dyckhoff William Menking and Thomas Weaver Many of the contributors are former students of Adrian Forty Through these diverse essays readers are encouraged to think about how architectural history and theory relates to their own research and design practices thus using the work of Adrian Forty as a catalyst for fresh and innovative thinking about architecture as a subject

Metaphorical Practices in Architecture Sarah Borree, Stephanie Knuth, Moritz Röger, 2023-06-23 Metaphors are diversely and intricately embedded in architectural practice and discourse Precisely for this reason this volume argues and sets out to explore how they can be engaged to critically interrogate architecture's social cultural and political dimensions past and present and to productively challenge and intervene with established perspectives debates and practices Mapping out not just potentials but also addressing the challenges limitations and dangers inherent in using metaphors in architectural research and practice the volume prominently illustrates the ambiguity and contradictoriness inherent in both metaphors and the process of engaging and exploiting them Covering a broad range of historical and geographical cases and concerns the contributions illustrate effectively that metaphors can expand or narrow our engagement with architecture and consolidate or legitimise but also destabilise and challenge established social cultural disciplinary and political structures concepts and categories With its aim to explore metaphors as both subject and method to critically challenge and expand established practices perspectives and standards in architectural research and practice the volume will be of interest for scholars working across the architectural humanities including architectural history theory culture design and urbanism as well as for researchers concerned with architecture and the city from fields such as cultural visual and area studies as well as art history
