Altmann, 2016-10-26 Large scale economic change such as the rise of coinage occurred during the Persian dominated centuries 6th 4th centuries BCE in the Eastern Mediterranean and ancient Near East How do the biblical texts of the time respond to such developments In this study Peter Altmann lays out foundational economic conceptions from the ancient Near East and earlier biblical traditions in order to show how Persian period biblical texts build on these traditions to address the challenges of their day Economic issues are central for how Ezra and Nehemiah approach the topics of temple building and of Judean self understanding and economics are also important for other Persian period texts Following significant interaction with the material culture and extra biblical texts the author devotes special attention to the ascendancy of economics and its theological and identity implications as structuring metaphors for divine action and human community in the Persian period

Knowledge and Character William Archer, 2011-12-08 Written before but published after The First World War this volume's plea for a national system of education which will produce a nation of prosperous morally fulfilled people able to live at peace with other nations is doubly poignant given the sacrifice of the lost generation However the author also sees the horror of the War as an opportunity to change human destiny through education an opportunity to abandon the narrow system of education in favour of one which will bring education in touch with life and provide Britain with the intellectual and moral efficiency necessary to steer her through the following turbulent years of the twentieth century Covering the core subjects of the English school curriculum in the early twentieth century the chapters in The Modern Teacher if somewhat utopian describe best practice in teaching of the particular subject and suggest possible improvements One chapter also discusses the importance of the relatively new subject of citizenship as well as the moral education of pupils

Jewish Migration in Modern Times Semion Goldin, Mia Spiro, Scott Ury, 2020-06-09 This collection examines various aspects of Jewish migration within from and to eastern Europe between 1880 and the present It focuses on not only the wide variety of factors that often influenced the fateful decision to immigrate but also the personal experience of migration and the critical role of individuals in larger historical processes Including contributions by historians and social scientists alongside first person memoirs the book analyses the historical experiences of Jewish immigrants the impact of anti Jewish violence and government policies on the history of Jewish migration the reception of Jewish immigrants in a variety of centres in America Europe and Israel and the personal dilemmas of those individuals who debated whether or not to embark on their own path of migration By looking at the phenomenon of Jewish migration from a variety of disciplinary perspectives and in a range of different settings the contributions to this volume challenge and complicate many widely held assumptions regarding Jewish migration in modern times In particular the chapters in this volume raise critical questions regarding the place of anti Jewish violence in the history of Jewish migration as well as the chronological periodization and general direction of Jewish migration over the past 150 years The volume also compares the experiences of Jewish immigrants to those of immigrants from other ethnic or religious communities As such this collection will be of much interest to not only scholars of Jewish history but also researchers in the fields of migration studies as well as those using personal histories as historical sources This book was originally published as a special issue of East European Jewish Affairs

An Archaeology of Identity Andrew Gardner, 2016-09-16 What happened to Roman soldiers in Britain during the decline of the empire in the 4th and 5th centuries Did they withdraw defect or go native More than a question of military history this is the starting point for Andrew Gardner's incisive exploration of social identity in Roman Britain in the Roman Empire and in ancient society Drawing on the sociological theories of Anthony Giddens and others Gardner shapes an approach that focuses on the central role of practice in the creation and maintenance of identities nationalist gendered class and ethnic This theory is then tested against the material remains of Roman soldiers in Britain to show how patterning of stratigraphy architecture and artifacts supports his theoretical construct The result is a retelling of the story of late Roman Britain sharply at odds with the traditional text driven histories and a theory of human action that offers much to current debates across the social sciences
