Youth Political Participation In An Emerging Democracy:

Youth political participation Tomaž Deželan, Cristina Bacalso, Anna Lodeserto, 2023-01-09 Young people's participation is crucial for shaping and transforming democracies. Youth political participation is taking place within a context of democratic transformation including a global decline in the state of democracy, shrinking space for civil society, polarisation of the political and social space, economic crisis and precarity, rapid digitalisation, the impact of the Covid 19 pandemic and most recently war. In this setting, we are witnessing a lack of trust in political institutions, an increasing disengagement from the political system and a decline in youth participation in institutional politics. This Youth Knowledge book reminds us that while the context might be changing, young people's participation is crucial for shaping and transforming democracies. Moving beyond the traditional binary of conventional and nonconventional, the authors ask the question: How are young people engaging with democracies in transformation, seeking to understand the ways in which young people are defining their own participation? This volume includes eight chapters ranging from the mapping of young people's involvement in environmental justice movements and climate strikes, dissent and radical kindness, political participation of young refugees in Europe, as well as explorations of the understanding of the concepts of liberal democracy, youth voice and European citizenship, as well as the importance and role of values and the context. In addition to the chapters, four personal essays written by young people themselves give a glimpse into the ways young people are engaging in political participation to shape their schools, communities and Europe, but also the broader systems on which our current politics is built. Young people's political participation, citizenship and relationship with democracy remain a complex topic for youth research, policy and practice. While this publication does not claim to answer all the questions or represent the realities of all young people across Europe, it gives a glimpse into the landscape of youth engagement in a changing world, highlighting realities, trends and main issues. Revisiting Youth Political Participation Joerg Forbrig, 2005-01-01 Youth and Political Participation

, 2007-01-01 Learning about politics and life as a citizen is part of the transition to adulthood. During this stage, young people in most Western democracies are introduced to political processes and issues as well as a range of political activities including voting and participation in social movements. But young people make this transition differently. The articles in this Book explore a range of ways that young people participate politically and also discuss those who are not active citizens. The collection arose from a meeting of Australian experts in Youth Studies who came together to discuss and debate issues related to youth political participation. Collectively, it provides a compendium of our current state of knowledge about this topic. While specific attention is directed to young people's introduction to enrolment and voting, discussions include broader questions such as what does it mean to be political and what role do various social institutions play in the political learning process. Articles include discussions of the legal requirements in Australia regarding enrolment and voting, whether there is such a thing as a youth vote and the social psychological dimensions of youth confidence in voting. Topics related to the role of the family the school the media and the internet are included Other important issues such as gender differences youth disenchantment and disadvantaged youth receive much needed attention

Young People, Citizenship and Political Participation Mark Chou, Jean-Paul Gagnon, Catherine Hartung, Lesley J. Pruitt, 2017-03-17 Prominent studies and opinion polls often claim that young people are disengaged from political institutions distrustful of politicians and disillusioned about democracy Young People, Citizenship and Political Participation challenges these political stereotypes by asking whether young people have been contributing to or rectifying our civic deficit In particular it examines the role of civics education in addressing the so called crisis of democracy Turning away from conventional suggestions often advocated by politicians and educators that offer civics education as the solution the book advances an alternate approach to civics one that acknowledges the increasingly diverse ways in which young people are both engaging and disengaging politically

Young People and Political Participation Jacqueline Briggs, 2016-11-08 This book analyses the various ways and the extent to which young people participate in politics focusing primarily on the UK and including cross national comparisons where relevant It covers topics including what is meant by political participation youth political participation on a pan European basis new social media and youth political participation whether the voting age should be lowered to 16 youth participation at the local level and young women and political participation Written in a lively and engaging style the book provides a detailed investigation into the extent to which young people in the twenty first century are interested and participate in politics The author has included interviews with many young people as well as with academics and specialists in the field The book s greatest contribution is to the debate surrounding whether or not the voting age should be lowered to 16 a timely and thought provoking analysis

Young People Shaping Democratic Politics Ian Rivers, C. Laura Lovin, 2023-05-12 At a time when political mobilisation is a symptom of social dissatisfaction young people s participation in political decision making practice and ideological change make foregrounding and investigating their political practices a necessity The title of this book Young People Shaping Democratic Politics Interrogating Inclusion Mobilising Education clearly announces its intention subject and mission This collection has been inspired by topical youth mobilisations that aim to address injustices and inequalities which are rooted in poverty austerity violence increased surveillance climate change dislocation xenophobia the rise of authoritarian regimes and a global turn to the political right Whereas young people are politicised in moments of conflict and become symbolic conduits for the future of their nation they represent a category most often relegated to the apolitical sphere before and after such moments of crisis This edited collection seeks to expand our engagement with inclusion beyond educational institutions by situating young people at the centre of our inquiry as agents of political processes that promote problematise and re imagine inclusive societies The chapters engage in contemporary case studies which are mapped across a wide range of countries from Europe Serbia Spain and United Kingdom North Africa Egypt South Africa North America United States South Asia Bangladesh and West Asia Lebanon

Society P. Collin,2015-01-13 Drawing on diverse theoretical perspectives this book examines questions of youth citizenship and participation by exploring their meanings in policy practice and youth experience It examines young people s participation in non government and youth led organisations and asks what can be done to bridge the democratic disconnect

Young People's Political Participation in Western Europe Gema Garcia Albacete,2014-10-10 Are young people today politically apathetic Or are they democratically mature citizens This book examines several types of involvement to reveal changes in young people s political participation in Europe in recent decades It uses various concepts of age to compare participation across countries and over time

Youth Studies and Generations Vitor Sérgio Ferreira,2020-03-25 There is currently much discourse about generations in the public sphere A sequence of letters conflates generations and age cohorts born in the last few decades generation X Y or Z as well as multiple categories are used to describe today s young people as a generation that is distinct from its predecessors Despite the popularity of generational labels in media politics or even academia the use of generation as a conceptual tool in youth studies has been controversial This Special Issue allows readers to better understand the key issues regarding the use of generation as a theoretical concept and or as a social category in the field of youth studies shedding light on the controversies trends and cautions that go through it

European Integration and Disintegration Nick Cohen,Ayana Dootalieva,2022-06-09 European integration is an ambitious goal that attempts to reconcile grandiose visions for the future of Europe with complicated national attitudes toward unity The added complexity of political crises which have characterized the European project from its outset makes the success of the European Union far from guaranteed Today European unity is once again at an existential crossroad with internal and external challenges threatening its integration This volume uniquely brings together the novel perspectives of Europe s emergent generation of thinkers to analyze through interdisciplinary lenses these various disintegrative pressures Students and scholars of Europe as well as those interested in the future of European cohesion will enjoy this volume both for the interdisciplinary analysis it brings forth and for the window it provides into the thinking of Europe s next generation of leaders

Reconstructing the Middle East Abdulwahab Alkebsi,Nathan J Brown,Charlotta Sparre,2017-02-24 It is clear by now that the label Arab Spring has proven too simplistic to describe the uprisings that upended the political order of the Arab world in late 2010 Brutal crackdowns and civil conflict in Syria Libya and Yemen dashed the hopes that peaceful democratic revolutions would sweep the region In other countries the departure of authoritarian leaders led to many false starts without producing democratic conclusions Societies that had appeared united in opposition suddenly seemed fractious Youth were once again banished to the political margins Reconstructing the Middle East examines the changes that happened within the region from 2010 and the long term challenges and opportunities they present Featuring the work of authors with a diversity of perspectives most of whom hail from the region it addresses key issues of political economic and societal changes the role of young people and of the international community In addition the book deals with the questions of both political and economic reform and the intertwined nature of the two Political reform that allows greater participation will fail to quell frustration if Arabs continue to feel that their job prospects are bleak Similarly Arabs will not accept economic reform that restores growth but continues to fence off the political sphere This book offers a unique perspective on the uprisings by focusing on specific issue areas where change is needed and offering a roadmap for the long road towards state building and new social contracts based on political inclusion respect for pluralism and sustained economic growth As such it will be a valuable resource for students and scholars of Middle East Politics as well as those with an interest in the Arab Spring

Civic Education and Youth Political Participation, 2009-01-01 Why does it appear that many young people are disengaging from democracy and political participation For many governments politicians academics social commentators and researchers this is a serious and challenging problem Consequently widespread interest exists on how to engage young people in politics and democracy Civic education has re emerged as a possible answer to this question though not necessarily in the form in which it may be currently known This book examines research into issues about the engagement of young people in politics and democracy and examines research on civic education applications and programs which may address concerns about youth political participation Murray Print and Henry Milner are professors from the University of Sydney and the Universite de Montreal respectively They have brought together a group of leading researchers exploring the relationship between political participation and civic education to examine this relationship in greater depth

Governance in Nigeria post-1999: Revisiting the democratic 'new dawn' of the Fourth Republic Edited by Romola Adeola & Ademola Oluborode Jegede, 2020-03-06 At the start of Nigeria s Fourth Republic on 29 May 1999 there was great optimism as to the emergence of a new democratic future representing a significant break from the political undulations of the past Two decades and four presidential epochs later there is a prevalent question as to how well Nigeria has fared in governance and human rights post 1999 This book revisits the democratic new dawn of the Fourth Republic discussing pertinent matters integral to Nigeria s democratic future post 2019

Youth Activism in Environmental Politics, 2nd Edition Matt Henn, Sarah Pickard, 2023-02-02 Recently important new research has emerged to explain the large intergenerational cleavages in values and political preferences in many contemporary societies In most established democracies and many newer democracies young people are more likely to possess progressive values and are much more cosmopolitan in their outlook socially liberal accepting of cultural diversity and outward looking than older generations They tend to reject mainstream electoral politics and authoritarian nationalist forms of populism in favour of alternative progressive political parties and movements Indeed there is burgeoning evidence of a global tendency towards young people s support for and participation in new styles of non institutionalised political action that seem to better fit their life styles and to permit the actualisation of their political aspirations Although there is a considerable body of existing literature that examines the rise of such values and political participation preferences there is little work that focuses on the relationship with the prioritisation of environmental issues and environmental activism as evidenced in the September 2019 global climate strikes The goal of the current Research Topic is to explore the contemporary realities and patterns of youth participation in environmental politics in different societies As such we welcome manuscripts of original research and conceptualization that address the different practices of youth as they seek to effect environmental change and also their motivations for doing so Contributions are welcome from scholars youth practitioners and activists operating in a range of different settings and using diverse disciplinary and multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives

Jones,2006-11-28 This book examines how young people understand and live politics using innovative research methods It treats age class gender and ethnicity as political lived experiences It concludes that young people are alienated rather than apathetic and that their interests and concerns are rarely addressed within mainstream political institutions

Political Engagement of the Young in Europe Peter Thijssen,Jessy Siongers,Jeroen Van Laer,Jacques Haers,Sara Mels,2015-12-14 Although many scholars are convinced of the apparent civic disengagement of youth others suggest that civic participation of young people is stable and increasingly expressed through non institutionalized forms of practicing politics This book makes a key contribution to this discussion by asking whether the decline or shift paradigm is sufficient in understanding political participation of the youth It argues that we need to move beyond this framework and develop a renewed reflection on the meaning of civic and political engagement It asks crucial questions such as How can the young be educated into assuming civic and political responsibility Why and how do young people engage in social and political action How do the principal mediating institutions education media and the family contribute to new or different forms of youth civic engagement This text contains contributions from acknowledged specialists such as Constance Flanagan Mark Elchardus Marc Hooghe and Bert Klandermand and will be of key interest to students and scholars of youth and young citizens civic political involvement European politics youth studies sociology political participation and electoral behaviour Politics, Protest and Young People Sarah Pickard, 2019-06-07 Sarah Pickard offers a detailed and wide ranging assessment of electoral and non electoral political participation of young people in contemporary Britain drawing on perspectives and insights from youth studies political science and political sociology This comprehensive book enquires into the approaches used by the social sciences to understand young people s politics and documents youth led evolutions in political behaviour After unpicking key concepts including political participation generations the political life cycle and the youth vote Pickard draws on a combination of quantitative and qualitative research to trace the dynamics operating in electoral political participation since the 1960s This includes the relationship between political parties politicians and young people youth and student wings of political parties electoral behaviour and the lowering of the voting age to 16 Pickard goes on to discuss personalised engagement through what she calls young people s DIO Do It Ourselves political participation in online and offline connected collectives The book then explores young people s political dissent as part of a global youth led wave of protest This holistic book will appeal to anyone with an interest in young people politics protest and political change
