Criticism, Crisis, and Contemporary Narrative Paul Crosthwaite, 2011-01-05 The etymological affinity between criticism and crisis has never been more resonant than it is today when social life is increasingly understood as defined by a succession of overlapping global crises financial and economic crises environmental crises geopolitical crises terrorist crises public health crises But what is the role of literary and cultural criticism in conceptualizing this atmosphere of perpetual crisis If as Paul de Man maintained criticism necessarily exists in a state of crisis in what ways is this condition intensified at a time when the social formations within which criticism operates and the cultural artefacts that it takes as its objects are themselves pervaded by actual and imagined states of emergency This book the first sustained response to these questions demonstrates the capacity of critical thought working in dialogue with key narrative texts to provide penetrating insights into a contemporary landscape of global manufactured risk Written by an international team of specialist scholars the essays in the collection draw on a wide variety of contemporary theoretical fictional and cinematic sources ranging from Giorgio Agamben Jacques Derrida and Fredric Jameson to Cormac McCarthy Ian McEwan and Lauren Beukes to Ghost and the James Bond and National Treasure series Appearing in the midst of a phase of extraordinary turbulence in the fabric of our interconnected and interdependent world the book makes a landmark intervention in debates concerning the cultural ramifications of globalization field of contemporary American literary studies has changed significantly Following the turn of the twenty first century and mounting doubts about the continued explanatory power of the category of postmodernism new organizations have emerged book series have been launched journals have been created and new methodologies periodizations and thematic have redefined the field Postmodern Postwar and After aims to be a field defining book a sourcebook for the new and emerging critical terrain that explores the postmodern postwar period and what comes after The first section of essays returns to the category of the post modern and argues for the usefulness of key concepts and themes from postmodernism to the study of contemporary literature or reevaluates postmodernism in light of recent developments in the field and historical and economic changes in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries These essays take the contemporary abandonments of postmodernism as an occasion to assess the current states of postmodernity After that the essays move to address the critical shift away from postmodernism as a description of the present and toward a new sense of postmodernism as just one category among many that scholars can use to describe the recent past The final section looks forward and explores the question of what comes after the postwar postmodern Taken together these essays from leading and emerging scholars on the state of twenty first century literary studies provide a number of frameworks for approaching contemporary literature as influenced by yet distinct from postmodernism The result is an indispensable guide that seeks to represent and understand the major overhauling of postwar American literary studies that is currently underway
