Betrayal in the City F. D. Imbuga, 1987 Betrayal in the City first published in 1976 and 1977 was Kenya's national entry to the Second World Black and African Festival of Arts and Culture in Lagos Nigeria The play is an incisive thought provoking examination of the problems of independence and freedom in post colonial African states where a sizeable number of people feel that their future is either blank or bleak In the words of Mosese one of the characters It was better while we waited Now we have nothing to look forward to We have killed our past and are busy killing our future Page 4 of cover

Kenya National Assembly Official Record (Hansard) , 2009-07-22 The official records of the proceedings of the Legislative Council of the Colony and Protectorate of Kenya the House of Representatives of the Government of Kenya and the National Assembly of the Republic of Kenya Decolonization & Independence in Kenya, 1940-93 Bethwell A. Ogot, William Robert Ochieng', 1995 This is a sharply observed assessment of the history of the last half century by a distinguished group of historians of Kenya At the same time the book is a courageous reflection in the dilemmas of African nationhood Professor B A Ogot says The main purpose of the book is to show that decolonization does not only mean the transfer of alien power to sovereign nationhood it must also entail the liberation of the worlds of spirit and culture as well as economics and politics The book also raises a more fundamental question that is How much independence is available to any state national economy or culture in today's world It asks how far are Africa's miseries linked to the colonial past and to the process of decolonization In particular the book raises the basic question of how far Kenya is avoidably neo colonial And what does neo colonial dependence mean The book answers these questions by discussing the dynamic between the politics of decolonization the social history of class formation and the economics of dependence The book ends with a provocative epilogue discussing the transformation of the post colonial state from a single party to a multi party system A Guide to Francis Imbuga's Betrayal in the City Wahome Mutahi, 1988 Betrayal in the City F. D. Imbuga, 1976 African Literatures in the Eighties , 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print

Cultural Production and Change in Kenya Kimani Njogu, Garnette Oluoch-Olunya, 2007 Art Culture and Society Vol 1 is the first in a series of books to be published by Twaweza Communications on the relationship between art and society with special reference to Kenya It is part of a cultural leadership initiative being undertaken by the organization through a reexamination of the arts as they are produced and studied This volume brings together important reflections on the arts and is a major step in encouraging dialogue on the relationship between creativity and the human condition in the region Significantly it creates a space for university based academics to engage in dialogue with artists and writers based outside institutions of higher learning The conversations will bridge the gap between the two domains for knowledge production and enrich creative enterprise in Kenya in theory and practice As the essays in this collection show the present global situation demands a way to conceptualise and theorise an ever growing cultural interconnectedness sometimes manifested in art and interconnectedness that draws from a myriad of cultures and experiences Through the bridges of contact and cultural exchange distant images are mediated and brought closer to us They are reinterpreted and modified In the final analysis culture is shown to be an important aspect of human creativity but separateness and boundedness is contested Instead culture is shown to be malleable and fluid The essays bring in a new freshness to our reading of the creative arts coming out of Kenya
