Forever Suspect Saher Selod, 2018-06-28 The declaration of a War on Terror in the aftermath of the September 11 2001 terrorist attacks brought sweeping changes to the American criminal justice and national security systems as well as a massive shift in the American public opinion of both individual Muslims and the Islamic religion generally Since that time sociologist Saher Selod argues Muslim Americans have experienced higher levels of racism in their everyday lives In Forever Suspect Selod shows how a specific American religious identity has acquired racial meanings resulting in the hyper surveillance of Muslim citizens Drawing on forty eight in depth interviews with South Asian and Arab Muslim Americans she investigates how Muslim Americans are subjected to racialized surveillance in both an institutional context by the state and a social context by their neighbors and co workers Forever Suspect underscores how this newly racialized religious identity changes the social location of Arabs and South Asians on the racial hierarchy further away from whiteness and compromises their status as American citizens

Super-Diversity in Everyday Life Jan Willem Duyvendak, Nancy Foner, Philip Kasinitz, 2020-05-21 Presenting several in depth studies this book explores how super diversity operates in every day relations and interactions in a variety of urban settings in Western Europe and the United States The contributors raise a broad range of questions about the nature and effects of super diversity They ask if a quantitative increase in demographic diversity makes a qualitative difference in how diversity is experienced in urban neighborhoods and what are the consequences of demographic change when people from a wide range of countries and social backgrounds live together in urban neighborhoods The question at the core of the book is to what extent and in what contexts super diversity leads to either the normalization of diversity or to added hostility towards and amongst those in different ethnic racial and religious groups In cases where there is no particular ethno racial or religious majority are certain long established groups able to continue to exert economic and political power and is this continued economic and political dominance actually often facilitated by super diversity With contributions from a number of European countries as well as the USA this book will be of interest to researchers studying contemporary migration and ethnic diversity It will also spark discussion amongst those focusing on multiculturalism in urban environments This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies

India's Bangladesh Problem Navine Murshid, 2023-04-06 In recent years Bengali Muslims in India have faced harassment and scapegoating as the trope of the illegal Bangladeshi has gained political currency India's Bangladesh Problem explores the experience of Bengali Muslims on the Indian side of the India Bangladesh border in the context of neoliberal policies unequal bilateral relations labor migration contested citizenship and increasingly xenophobic government rhetoric Drawing on extensive research in the borderlands and hinterlands of both countries Navine Murshid argues that ever deepening neoliberal policies across the border have shaped how certain ethnic groups are valued and have reconfigured social hierarchies She provides new insights into the strategic inclusion exclusion and invisibility that characterizes Bengali Muslims lives rendering them a group susceptible to manipulation by virtue of their ethnic kinship to the majority of Bangladeshis In turn Bengali Muslims simultaneously resist and utilize received neoliberal ideas to sustain their lives and livelihoods at a time when neoliberal development has largely bypassed them
