of video analytics research has been largely on detecting alarm events and abnormal behaviours for public safety and security applications. However, increasingly CCTV installations have also been exploited for gathering and analyzing business intelligence information in order to enhance marketing and operational efficiency. For example, in retail environments surveillance cameras can be utilised to collect statistical information about shopping behaviour and preference for marketing, e.g. how many people entered a shop, how many females, males, or which age groups of people showed interests to a particular product, how long did they stay in the shop, and what are the frequent paths, and to measure operational efficiency for improving customer experience. Video analytics has the enormous potential for non-security oriented commercial applications. This book presents the latest developments on video analytics for business intelligence applications. It provides both academic and commercial practitioners an understanding of the state of the art and a resource for potential applications and successful practice.

Image and Video Retrieval Wee-Kheng Leow, Michael S. Lew, Tat-Seng Chua, Wei-Ying Ma, Lekha Chaisorn, Erwin M. Bakker, 2007-05-22 It was our great pleasure to host the 4th International Conference on Image and Video Retrieval (CIVR) at the National University of Singapore on 20-22 July 2005. CIVR aims to provide an international forum for the discussion of research challenges and exchange of ideas among researchers and practitioners in image/video retrieval technologies. It addresses innovative research in the broad field of image and video retrieval. A unique feature of this conference is the high level of participation by researchers from both academia and industry. Another unique feature of CIVR this year was its format: it offered both the traditional oral presentation sessions as well as the short presentation cum poster sessions. The latter provided an informal alternative forum for animated discussions and exchanges of ideas among the participants. We are pleased to note that interest in CIVR has grown over the years. The number of submissions has steadily increased from 82 in 2002 to 119 in 2003 and 125 in 2004. This year we received 128 submissions from the international communities with 81 (63.3%) from Asia and Australia, 25 (19.5%) from Europe, and 22 (17.2%) from North America. After a rigorous review process, 20 papers were accepted for oral presentations and 42 papers were accepted for poster presentations. In addition to the accepted submitted papers, the program also included 4 invited papers 1 keynote industrial paper and 4 invited industrial papers Altogether we offered a diverse and interesting program addressing the current interests and future trends in this area
