requirements which is generally termed as overconsumption. Such human tendency leads to negative impact on the entire force of nature and the environment. How the Buddhist principles guide us to live a better life where there is least effect on the environment and society is well explained in this paper. The second paper in this volume entitled Attaining a Sustainable Society through the Teachings of the Khandhaka of the Theravada Vinaya Pitaka is a vivid example of the benefits which one can derive from our ancient Pali literature. While studying the Theravada Vinaya Pitaka, the author explores the specific words of the Buddha in the Khandhaka which hint at the possibility of sustainability and development going together without harming other societal components. Though the Vinaya being a Pitaka for monastics, it still is highly useful for the laity as well. The paper Buddhist Ethics in the Establishments of Green Tourism is a unique academic contribution. Here the writer states that the Buddha's life and principles make us learn a lot as how green methods must be applied in our day to day life. The damage being caused by the genre called DEVELOPMENT needs to be controlled and for this the words of Master exhibit his proximity to protect nature, humanity and the world order.

Buddhist Visual Cultures, Rhetoric, and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings Alexandra Green, 2018-01-04. Step into a Burmese temple built between the late seventeenth and early nineteenth centuries and you are surrounded by a riot of color and imagery. The majority of the highly detailed wall paintings displays Buddhist biographical narratives inspiring the devotees to follow the Buddha's teachings. Alexandra Green goes one step further to consider the temples and their contents as a whole, arguing that the wall paintings mediate the relationship between the architecture and the main Buddha statues in the temples. This forges a unified space for the devotees to interact with the Buddha and his community with the aim of transforming the devotees' current and future lives. These temples were a cohesively articulated and represented Burmese Buddhist world to which the devotees belonged. Green's visits to more than 160 sites with identifiable subject matter form the basis of this richly illustrated volume which draws upon art, historical, anthropological and religious studies methodologies to analyze the wall paintings and elucidate the contemporary religious, political and social concepts that drove the creation of this lively art form. Buddhist Visual Cultures, Rhetoric and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings is truly a tour de force that allows us to see Burmese temple paintings of the Life of the Buddha and similar themes as an open-ended genre that like literary discourse participates in wider social, intellectual and religious contexts. Juliane Schober, Arizona State University.

Alexandra Green introduces this relatively unknown material and subjects it to sophisticated analysis. This study is a major step towards creating a template that could be used for analyzing other late traditions of Buddhist painting. Janice Leoshko, University of Texas at Austin.

Concordance to the Complete Works Sangharakshita, 2024-11-26. With elements of index, dictionary, encyclopaedia, concordance and collection of quotations, this volume has been designed to act as a comprehensive and accessible guide to the whole of Sangharakshita's Complete Works.
