Urban Planning in Lusophone African Countries Carlos Nunes Silva, 2016-03-09 Urban planning on the five Lusophone African countries Angola, Cape Verde, Guinea-Bissau, Mozambique and Sao Tome and Principe has so far been relatively overlooked in planning literature. Bringing together a team of leading scholars, this book fills the gap by providing an in-depth analysis of key issues in the history of urban planning and discussing the key challenges confronting contemporary urban planning in these countries. The book argues that urban planning is a non-neutral and non-value-free kind of public action and therefore ideology, planning theories, urban models and the ideological role urban planning has played are some of the key issues addressed. For that reason the practice of Urban Planning is also seen as the outcome of a complex interrelationship between structure and agency with the role of key planners being examined in some of the chapters. The findings and insights presented by the contributing authors confirm previous research on urban planning in the colonial and postcolonial periods in Lusophone African countries and at the same time break fresh ground and offer additional insights as new evidence has been collected from archives and in fieldwork carried out by a new generation of researchers. In addition it outlines possible directions for future research.

Law, Religion and Human Flourishing in Africa M. Christian Green, 2019-05-15 A shared interest of law and religion is the advancement of human flourishing yet there is no common understanding of what it means for humans to flourish and the means by which to attain a flourishing life. The concept of human flourishing is especially important for Africa where community and national development compete with forces of conflict and scarce resources. In the broadest sense the concept of human flourishing focuses our attention on having a comprehensively good or worthwhile life but various religious and legal traditions suggest different norms for measuring the quality of life and designing the institutional structures that could best facilitate and preserve it.

Violent Conversion Linda van de Kamp, 2016 Examines Pentecostal conversion as a force of change revealing new insights into its dominant role in global Christianity today. There has been an extraordinary growth in Pentecostalism in Africa with Brazilian Pentecostals establishing new transnational Christian connections initiating widespread changes not only in religious practice but in society. This book describes its rise in Maputo capital of Mozambique and the sometimes dramatic impact of Pentecostalism on women. Here large numbers of urban women are taking advantage of the opportunities Pentecostalism offers to overcome restrictions at home, pioneer new life spaces and change their lives through the power of the Holy Spirit. Yet conversion can also mean a violent rupturing with tradition with family and with social networks. As the pastors encourage women to cut their ties with the past including ancestral spirits they come to see their kin and husbands as imbued with evil powers and many leave their families Conquering spheres that used to be forbidden to them they often live alone as unmarried women sometimes earning more than men of a similar age They are also expected to donate huge sums to the churches often money that they can ill afford bringing new hardships Linda van de Kamp is Assistant Professor in the Department of Sociology University of Amsterdam The Netherlands
