Euralille The Making Of A New City Center:

China's Railway Transformation Junjie Xi, Paco Mejias Villatoro, 2022-12-30 This book investigates China's railway transformation through history along with culture changes and urban development. The book begins by looking at the background of China and the history and growth of railway development in China through five key phases followed by assessing the cultural changes in the railway carriage and exploring how these are linked to social equality and national provisions. The core of this book aims to analyse the Chinese urban transformation through the development of the high speed rail HSR infrastructure in China. Eleven important new HSR stations in mainland China plus the new Hong Kong West Kowloon Station have been selected to contextually explore how HSR infrastructures have affected the development of the Chinese urban context. The selected case studies are the stations of Beijing South, Wuhan, Shanghai Hongqiao, Guangzhou South, Xi'an, North Nanjing South, Chengdu East, Tianjin West, Zhengzhou East, Hangzhou East, and Hong Kong West Kowloon. All of these were built between 2008 and 2018. In these case studies, the location and the intentions and success of promoting urban development are analysed and assessed. Following this, the book further investigates the peculiarities of the new HSR stations in China in comparison with stations in Europe. An assessment framework is established to evaluate the Chinese case studies comparatively with significant cases in Europe, attending to the urban structure of the area, the architectural quality, the functional diversity, and the quality of the public space generated in the surrounding area.

Euralille Espace croisé, 1996 The Urban Masterplanning Handbook Eric Firley, Katharina Groen, 2014-05-16 A highly illustrated reference tool, this handbook provides comparative visual analysis of major urban extensions and masterplans around the world. It places an important new emphasis on the processes and structures that influence urban form, highlighting the significant impact that public or private landownership, management, and funding might have on shaping a particular project. Each of the book's 20 subjects is rigorously analysed through original diagrams, scale drawings, and descriptive texts, which are complemented by key statistics and colour photography. The case studies are presented in order of size rather than date or geographical location. This offers design professionals, developers, and city planners, as well as students of architecture and urban design, informed organisational and formal comparisons leading to intriguing insights. A wide geographical range of contemporary and historic masterplans are featured. These encompass European projects from the 19th century to the present day: Belgravia in London, Sarphatipark in Amsterdam, Potsdamer Platz in Berlin, La Défense, Seine-Arche in Paris, and Hammarby Sjöstad in Stockholm. In North America, the postwar development of Stuyvesant Town in Manhattan is also the subject of a case study. More recent and ongoing international urban schemes are included, such as Puerto Madero in Buenos Aires, Downtown Dubai, and the New Central Business District in Beijing.

Big Plans Kenneth Kolson, 2021-04-27 Similar in spirit to Lewis Mumford's The City in History and Jane Jacobs' The Death and Life of Great American Cities, wonderful, funny, idiosyncratic. Frederick R. Steiner, author of The Living Landscape. Big Plans: The Allure and Folly of Urban Design springs from the idea that human aspirations for the city tend to overstate the role of rationality in public life Inspired by the architectural and urban criticism of such writers as Lewis Mumford Jane Jacobs and John Brinckerhoff Jackson Kolson adopts a user's perspective on issues of urban design an approach that highlights both the futility of social engineering and the resilience of the human spirit A book that should be read by all those people and there seem to be more of them as week chases week who are thinking about the fate of lower Manhattan right now Bloomberg News Kenneth Kolson has lots of material Some of what's been built in cities lately is astonishing and not in a good way The Boston Globe Kolson is a passionate critic of urban schemes with well founded skepticism about the role rationality has played in designing them Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians A fascinating read about the utopian goal of Big Plans and the dystopian reality of lived experience Design Issues Euralille : the Making of a New City Center Espace croisae,1996 New Urban Configurations R. Urban quality is generally considered increasingly important for urban competitiveness Nevertheless large urban redevelopment schemes often fail to provide sufficient quality from a user s perspective This study therefore investigates the role of urban quality in large scale urban redevelopment which is here elaborated in terms of Richard Florida s concept of quality of place In a number of extensive case studies it focuses on prestigious redevelopment projects around the high speed rail stations in Amsterdam Rotterdam and Lille It provides an analysis of the role of urban quality in the development of these projects as well as some insights in the applicability of quality of place in a wider Dutch context In addition the study advocates a more open and flexible planning process based on a distinctly long term perspective on urban quality Trains, Culture, and Mobility Benjamin Fraser,Steven D. Spalding,2012-01-01

Trains Culture and Mobility Riding the Rails goes beyond textual representations of rail travel to engage an impressive range of political sociological and urban theory Taken together these essays highlight the complexity of the modern experience of train mobility and its salient relation to a number of cultural discourses Incorporating traditionally marginal areas of cultural production such as graffiti museums architecture or even plunging into the social experience of travel inside the traincar itself each essay constitutes an attempt to work from the act of riding the train toward questions of much larger significance Crisscrossing cultures from the New World and Old from East and West these essays share a common preoccupation with the way in which trains and railway networks have mapped and re mapped the contours of both cities and states in the modern period Bringing together individual and large scale social practices this volume traces out the cultural implications of Riding the Rails *Ort. Arbeit. Stadtplanung,Architekturforum Tirol,2002 Experience and Conflict: The Production of Urban Space Panu Lehtovuori,2016-12-05

When designing planning and building urban spaces many contradictory and conflicting actors practices and agendas coexist This book propounds that at present this process is conducted in an artificial reality Concept City characterized by a simplified and outdated conception of space It provides a constructive critique of the concepts underlying the practices of planning and architecture and in order to facilitate more dynamic inclusive and subtle practices it formulates a new theory about space in general and public urban space in particular The central notions in this theory are temporality experiment and conflict which are grounded on empirical observations in Helsinki Manchester and Berlin While the book contextualizes Lefebvre s ideas on urban planning and architecture it is in no way limited to Lefebvorean discourse but allows insights to new theoretical work including that of Finnish and Swedish authors In doing so it suggests and develops exciting new approaches and tools leading to experiential urbanism Articulating Europe Jonas Frykman,Péter

Niedermüller, 2003 This reprint of a collection of articles addresses the challenges that European ethnology is facing Representing a variety of localities they give new insights and perspectives to the importance of doing empirical fieldwork and of seeing the emergence of new patterns as well as the remaking of old ones France Jean-Louis Cohen, 2014-08-15 Everyone knows Notre Dame the Eiffel Tower and the chateaux of the Loire Valley but French architects have also produced some of the most iconic buildings of the twentieth century playing a central role in the emergence and development of modernism In France Jean Louis Cohen presents a complete narrative of the unfolding architectural modernity in the country grappling not only with the buildings but also with the political and critical context surrounding them Cohen examines the developments in urban design and architecture within France depicting the continuities and breaks in French architecture since 1900 against a broader international background Describing the systems of architectural exchange with other countries including Italy Germany Russia and the United States he offers a new view on the ideas projects and buildings otherwise so often considered only from narrow nationalistic perspectives Cohen also maps the problematic search for a national identity against the background of European rivalries and France's colonial past Drawing on a wealth of recent research this authoritatively written book will challenge the way design professionals and historians view modern French architecture Cities on Rails Luca Bertolini, Tejo Spit, 2005-08-03 Features the most successful and interesting current projects in this area of development and planning Responds to wide international interest in urban regeneration projects and transportation issues Offers practical guidance to complex issues based on research findings Cinema and Surveillance Martin Blumenthal-Barby, 2024-06-03 Cinema and Surveillance The Asymmetric Gaze shows how key modern filmmakers challenge and disturb the relation between film and surveillance medium and message Assembling readings of films by Harun Farocki Michael Haneke and Fritz Lang the book considers surveillance in such different domains as urban life religious doctrine and law enforcement With surveillance present in the modern world as both a technological phenomenon and a social practice the author shows how cinema as a visual medium presents highly sophisticated analyses of surveillance He suggests that surveillance is less an issue to be tackled from a secure spectatorial position than an experience to be rendered an event to be dealt with Far from offering a general model of spectatorship the book explores how narrative moments of surveillance are complicated by specific spectatorial responses In its intersection of well known figures and a highly topical issue this book will have broad appeal especially but not exclusively among students and scholars in film studies media studies German studies European studies art history and political theory Street-Level Desires, Discovering the City on Foot Frank van der Hoeven, 2009-01-06 Pedestrian mobility and the regeneration of the European city centre Spatial Metro a project largely funded by the EU aims to make city visits more enjoyable for pedestrians by making cities easier to navigate easier to walk around and easier to understand and appreciate This is achieved in various ways including illuminating characteristic buildings providing metro style maps as well as appropriate information and signposting for pedestrians and the application of GPS technology Together with municipalities and universities five cities Norwich Bristol Rouen Koblenz and Biel Bienne in North West Europe have carried out pilot studies and exchanged experiences In this publication their findings are shared with the reader Cities for a Small Continent Anne Power,2016-05-25 This original book builds on the author s research in Phoenix cities to present a vivid story of Europe s post industrial cities pre and post financial crisis Using varied case studies the book explores how policy responses to the economic crisis have played out in different European cities with their contrasting conditions history and performance generating contrasting reactions The book compares changes between Northern and Southern European countries bigger and smaller cities over the past ten years Across the continent social cohesion community investment and social enterprise have gained momentum as Europe s crowded resource constrained cities face up to environmental and social limits faster than other less densely urban countries such as the US The author presents a compelling framework to show that Europe s cities are creating a new industrial economy to combat environmental and social unravelling

Enjoying the Track of Term: An Psychological Symphony within Euralille The Making Of A New City Center

In some sort of taken by displays and the ceaseless chatter of quick transmission, the melodic elegance and mental symphony developed by the written word usually diminish in to the back ground, eclipsed by the constant sound and distractions that permeate our lives.
