Exhibitors Directory The Star:

The Official Directory of the World's Columbian Exposition, May 1st to October 30th, 1893, 1893      Hollywood Vault Eric Hoyt, 2014-07-03 Hollywood Vault is the story of how the business of film libraries emerged and evolved spanning the silent era to the sale of feature libraries to television Eric Hoyt argues that film libraries became valuable not because of the introduction of new technologies but because of the emergence and growth of new markets and suggests that studying the history of film libraries leads to insights about their role in the contemporary digital marketplace The history begins in the mid 1910s when the star system and other developments enabled a market for old films that featured current stars After the transition to films with sound the reissue market declined but the studios used their libraries for the production of remakes and other derivatives The turning point in the history of studio libraries occurred during the mid to late 1940s when changes in American culture and an industry wide recession convinced the studios to employ their libraries as profit centers through the use of theatrical reissues In the 1950s intermediary distributors used the growing market of television to harness libraries aggressively as foundations for cross media expansion a trend that continues today By the late 1960s the television marketplace and the exploitation of film libraries became so lucrative that they prompted conglomerates to acquire the studios The first book to discuss film libraries as an important and often underestimated part of Hollywood history Hollywood Vault presents a fascinating trajectory that incorporates cultural legal and industrial history      The Exhibitor, 1953 Some issues include separately paged sections Better management Physical theatre extra profits Review Servisection      Titanic Kevin S. Sandler, Gaylyn Studlar, 1999 In 1997 James Cameron's Titanic became the first motion picture to earn a billion dollars worldwide These essays ask the question What made Titanic such a popular movie Why has this film become a cultural and film phenomenon What makes it so fascinating to the film going public      Grand Design Tino Balio, 1995 Covering a tumultuous period of the 1950s this work explores the divorce of movie studios from their theater chains the panic of the blacklist era the explosive emergence of science fiction as the dominant genre and the rise of television and Hollywood's response with widescreen spectacles      Women of Color, 2002-09 Women of Color is a publication for today's career women in business and technology      Go - Transport Times of the West, 1963      Exhibitors Daily Review, 1963
