At the end of the Chapter the quantitative risk analysis is demonstrated at the hand of a team discussion case study. Chapter 12 covers several models and approaches dealing with various stochastic aspects of the decision environment. Stochastic models generation of robust schedules use of reactive and fuzzy approaches are presented. Sensitivity and scenario analysis are introduced. Also simulation analysis which is widely used to analyze the impacts of uncertainty on project goals is presented. Chapter 13 addresses repetitive projects that involve the production or construction of similar units in batches such as railway cars or residential houses. Particularly in the construction industry repetitive projects represent a large portion of the work accomplished in this sector of the economy. A case study on the 50 km section of a motorway project is used for demonstrating the handling of repetitive project management. How best to select one or more of a set of candidate projects to maintain a project portfolio is an important problem for project based organizations with limited resources. The project selection problem is inherently a multi objective problem and is treated as such in Chapter 14. Several models and solution techniques are introduced. A multi objective multi period project selection and scheduling model is presented. A case study that addresses a project portfolio selection and scheduling problem for the construction of a set of dams in a region is presented. Finally Chapter 15 discusses three promising research areas in project management in detail i Sustainability and Project Management ii Project Management in the Era of Big Data and iii the Fourth Industrial Revolution and the New Age Project Management. We elaborate on the importance of sustainability in project management practices discuss how developments in data analytics might impact project life cycle management and speculate how the infinite possibilities of the Fourth Industrial Revolution and the new technologies will transform project management practices.
