WHO normative function at the country level World Health Organization,2024-07-10 The WHO Evaluation Office presents a comprehensive evaluation of the organization s normative function at the country level

The evaluation sheds light on the impact and effectiveness of WHO's normative products within individual countries and offers valuable insights and recommendations. WHO's normative function is at the core of its mandate and constitution. To ensure its relevance and effectiveness, periodic assessments are crucial. Building upon a previous global evaluation conducted in 2017, this evaluation aims to understand and strengthen WHO's normative role at the country level. It aligns with WHO's commitment to prioritize countries in its work.

Policy Tools for Allocative Efficiency of Health Services Xingzhu Liu, 2003. This study is a result of trying to answer for the WHO the question: Are there any policy tools that have been shown to improve the allocative efficiency of health care provision? It does not simply tell policy makers which tools to take up but rather how to determine which ones are more likely to be feasible and effective given particular circumstances of political and administrative capacity, knowledge on the part of both providers and consumers, and other factors which affect whether a policy tool can be used and with what outcome.

Making Medicines in Africa Maureen Mackintosh, Geoffrey Banda, Watu Wamae, Paula Tibandebage, 2016-02-03. This book is open access under a CC BY license. The importance of the pharmaceutical industry in Sub-Saharan Africa: its claim to policy priority is rooted in the vast unmet health needs of the sub-continent. Making Medicines in Africa is a collective endeavour by a group of contributors with a strong African and more broadly Southern presence to find ways to link technological development, investment, and industrial growth in pharmaceuticals to improve access to essential good quality medicines as part of moving towards universal access to competent health care in Africa. The authors aim to shift the emphasis in international debate and initiatives towards sustained Africa-based and African-led initiatives to tackle this huge challenge. Without the technological, industrial, intellectual, organisational, and research-related capabilities associated with competent pharmaceutical production, and without policies that pull the industrial sectors towards serving local health needs, the African sub-continent cannot generate the resources to tackle its populations' needs and demands. Research for this book has been selected as one of the 20 best examples of the impact of UK research on development.
