Eu Foreign Policy Transitional Justice And Mediation:

EU Foreign Policy, Transitional Justice and Mediation Laura Davis, 2014-07-11 This book analyses how the European Union translates its principles of peace and justice into policy and puts them into practice particularly in societies in or emerging from violent conflict The European Union treaty states that in its relations with the wider world the EU is to promote peace security the protection of human rights and the strict observance and the development of international law The EU is active in peace processes around the world yet its role in international peace mediation is largely ignored This book offers the first scholarly analysis of how the EU engages in peace processes and justice for human rights violations focussing on the point where mediation and transitional justice intersect Drawing on extensive fieldwork the book includes case studies of how the EU sought to promote peace and justice in the Democratic Republic of Congo DRC how it supports international justice through the International Criminal Court and a model of the EU as a mediator These provide an evidence base for policy makers and practitioners as well as strong empirical contributions to theory The book addresses whether and how the EU pursues its principles of both peace and justice in conflict zones where in practice these principles may be in conflict and the implications of these findings for understanding EU foreign policy and the EU as a security actor This book will be of much interest to students of EU foreign policy transitional justice peace and conflict studies and security studies

US Foreign Policy on Transitional Justice Annie R. Bird, 2015 Despite the diverse interests of Presidents Congress and the State Department this book argues that US foreign policy on transitional justice is surprisingly consistent characterised by an approach that is value driven strategic and retributive and that has influenced the field as a whole

The European Union as International Mediator Julian Bergmann, 2019-07-27 This book explores the EU s effectiveness as an international mediator and provides a comparative analysis of EU mediation through three case studies the conflict over Montenegro s independence the Belgrade Pristina dialogue between Kosovo and Serbia and the Geneva International Discussions on South Ossetia and Abkhazia The book starts from the observation that the EU has emerged as an important international provider of mediation in various conflicts around the world Against this background the author develops an analytical framework to investigate EU mediation effectiveness that is then applied to the three cases The main finding of the book is that EU mediation has a stabilising effect on conflict dynamics making renewed escalation less likely and contributing to the settlement of conflict issues At the same time the EU s effectiveness depends primarily on its ability to influence the conflict parties willingness to compromise through conditionality and diplomatic pressure

Transitional Justice and the Historical Abuses of Church and State James Gallen, 2023-03-30 In this book James Gallen provides an in depth evaluation of the responses of Western States and churches to their historical abuses from a transitional justice perspective Using a comparative lens this book examines the application of transitional justice to address and redress the past in Ireland Australia Canada the United States and United Kingdom It evaluates the use of public inquiries and truth commissions litigation reparations apologies and reconciliation in each context to address these abuses Significantly this novel analysis considers how power and public emotions influence and often impede transitional justice s ability to address historical structural injustices In addressing historical abuses power fails to be redistributed and national and religious myths are not reconsidered leading Gallen to conclude that the existing transitional justice efforts of states and churches remain an unrepentant form of justice This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core

A Geopolitical Europe in the Making? Marek

Neuman, Ramses A. Wessel, Thijs de Zee, 2025-08-02 This edited book investigates whether and if so to what extent the European Union began to turn its recently uttered ambition of becoming a geopolitical Union into practice It does so by bringing a range of scholars from various institutions and disciplines among others political science European law European studies together asking them whether in their specific field they can observe a geopolitical turn in the European Union's policy making The result of this intellectual endeavour can be found in this book a book that makes a first attempt at empirically testing the Union's ability to effectively respond to ever and rapidly changing conditions for conducting international politics in a rule based system The volume is divided into two separate yet mutually informing parts Part I consists of a series of empirical chapters assessing the EU's actorness vis vis other regional powers regional and international organisations This is followed by several empirical snapshots looking into specific policy areas in Part II As we combine the insights from both parts we attempt to contribute to the debate on the changing nature of the European Union in challenging times Our approach then is primarily an empirical one And yet building upon these conclusions we are able to also draw conceptual conclusions about the EU's increasing geopolitical nature or the lack thereof These conclusions make this a relevant read not only for academics but also for practitioners of European law and European integration Marek Neuman is Assistant Professor in EU Foreign Policy and Jean Monnet Chair of European Politics and Governance at the Faculty of Arts of the University of Groningen The Netherlands Ramses A Wessel is Professor of European Law at the Faculty of Law of the University of Groningen The Netherlands Thijs de Zee is a PhD Candidate at the Faculty Campus Fryslân of the University of Groningen The Netherlands Chapter 3 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com North Africa and the Making of Europe Muriam Haleh Davis, Thomas Serres, 2018-02-22 This innovative edited collection brings together leading scholars from the USA the UK and mainland Europe to examine how European identity and institutions have been fashioned through interactions with the southern periphery since 1945 It highlights the role played by North African actors in shaping European conceptions of governance culture and development considering the construction of Europe as an ideological and politico economic entity in the process Split up into three sections that investigate the influence of colonialism on the shaping of post WWII Europe the nature of co operation dependence and interdependence in the region and the impact of the Arab Spring North Africa and the Making of Europe investigates the Mediterranean space using a transnational interdisciplinary approach This in turn allows for historical analysis to be fruitfully put into conversation with contemporary politics The book also discusses such timely issues such as the development of European institutions the evolution of legal frameworks in the name of antiterrorism the rise of Islamophobia immigration and political co operation Students and scholars focusing on the development of postwar Europe or the EU's current relationship with North Africa will benefit immensely from this invaluable new study Theorising the European Union as an International Security Provider Annemarie Peen Dodt, Richard Whitman, Stefan Wolff, 2018-02-02 The European Union has increasingly taken on a role as international security provider that extends beyond the geographical scope of its membership. This is clear from the wide range of military and civilian crisis management missions that the Union has undertaken but also identifiable through its other policies such as the European Neighbourhood Policy and development assistance which have also to some extent become security focused. Yet the role of the EU as an international security provider remains under theorized and weakly understood. The proposed book analyses the Union's role as an international security provider in a comprehensive way developing theoretical as well as empirical grounding for the understanding of the making and implementation of EU security policy. The contributions in this book cover actors involved in the policy making process, the dynamics of this process itself, its outcomes, strategies and policies and their impact on the ground. They examine the relevance of and apply existing theories of international relations, international security and foreign policy analysis to the specific case of the EU, investigate empirically how particular policies are formulated and implemented and study the impact and effectiveness of the Union as an international security provider in a variety of cases compared. This book was previously published as a special issue of Global Society.

Localising Memory in Transitional Justice Mina Rauschenbach, Julia Viebach, Stephan Parmentier, 2022-05-30. This collection adds to the critical transitional justice scholarship that calls for transitional justice from below and that makes visible the complex and oftentimes troubled entanglements between justice endeavours, locality and memory making. Broadening this perspective, it explores informal memory practices across various contexts with a focus on their individual and collective dynamics and their intersections reaching also beyond a conceptualisation of memory as mere symbolic reparation and politics of memory. It seeks to highlight the hidden, unwritten and multifaceted in today's memory boom by focusing on the memorialisation practices of communities, activists, families and survivors. Organising its analytical focal point around the localisation of memory, it offers valuable and new insights on how and under what conditions localised memory practices may contribute to recognition and social transformation as well as how they may at best be inclusive or exclusive of dynamic and diverse memories. Drawing on inter and multi disciplinary approaches, this book brings an in depth and nuanced understanding of local memory practices and the dynamics attached to these in transitional justice contexts. It will be of much interest to students and scholars of memory and genocide studies, peace and conflict studies, transitional justice, sociology and anthropology.

The EU, Strategy and Security Policy Laura Chappell, Jocelyn Mawdsley, Petar Petrov, 2016-05-26. This edited collection is a timely and in depth analysis of the EU's efforts to bring coherency and strategy to its security policy actions. Despite a special European Council summit in December 2013 on defence, it is generally acknowledged that fifteen years since its inception, the EU's Common Security and Defence Policy (CSDP) has yet to acquire a clear sense of purpose. This book investigates those areas where the EU has established actorness in the security and defence field and asks whether they might constitute the elements of an emergent more coherent EU strategy on security. Taking a critical view, the contributors map the EU's strategic vision's across particular key regions.

where the EU has been active as a security actor the strategic challenges that it has pinpointed alongside the opportunities and barriers posed by a multiplicity of actors interests and priorities identified by both member states and EU actors By doing this we demonstrate where gaps in strategic thinking lie where the EU has been unable to achieve its aims and offer recommendations concerning the EU s future strategic direction This book will be of much interest to students of European security EU policy strategic studies and IR in general EU Security Policy and Crisis Management Nicole

Koenig,2016-03-10 This book explores European Union crisis management and draws implications for its role as an international security actor The success of EU crisis management has varied greatly and this book aims to identify the key factors that explain the differing degrees of coherence through a comparative analysis of its multidimensional crisis responses in Africa The empirical focus lies on three prominent EU crisis management cases namely Libya in 2011 Somalia in 2011 2012 and the Sahel in 2012 2013 It analyses the activities and interaction of EU institutional actors and member states with a focus on France the United Kingdom and Germany The book argues that the EU represents a rather unpredictable security actor whose multi level coherence is contingent on the congruence of domestic economic and electoral interests as well as national threat perceptions and the extent to which EU level coherence norms resonate with national norms on the use of force and modes of multilateral cooperation In sum this book offers systematic insight into EU crisis management and clarifies the conceptual and empirical boundaries of the comprehensive approach Finally the study of the micro foundations of coherence allows for policy relevant suggestions on the EU s future role as a security actor This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy European Security Peace and Conflict Studies African Politics and IR in general

Rethinking Peace Mediation Catherine Turner,Martin Wählisch,2021-01-11 Written by international practitioners and scholars this pioneering work offers important insights into peace mediation practice today and the role of third parties in the resolution of armed conflicts The authors reveal how peace mediation has developed into a complex arena and how multifaceted assistance has become an indispensable part of it Offering unique reflections on the new frameworks set out by the UN they look at the challenges and opportunities of third party involvement With its policy focus and real world examples from across the globe this is essential reading for researchers of peace and conflict studies and a go to reference point for advisors involved in peace processes EU Global Strategy and Human Security Mary Kaldor,Iavor Rangelov,Sabine

Selchow,2018-04-17 This volume examines the EU s Global Strategy in relation to human security approaches to conflict Contemporary conflicts are best understood as a social condition in which armed groups mobilise sectarian and fundamentalist sentiments and construct a predatory economy through which they enrich themselves at the expense of ordinary citizens This volume provides a timely contribution to debates over the role of the EU on the global stage and its contribution to peace and security at a time when these discussions are reinvigorated by the adoption of the EU Global Strategy It discusses the significance of the Strategic Review and the Global Strategy for the re articulation of EU conflict prevention crisis management peacebuilding and development policies in the next few years It also addresses the key issues facing EU security in the 21st century including the conflicts in Ukraine Libya and Syria border security cyber security and the role of the private security sector The book concludes by proposing that the EU adopts a second generation human security approach to conflicts as an alternative to geopolitics or the War on Terror taking forward the principles of human security and adapting them to 21st century realities This book will be of interest to students of human security European foreign and security policy peace and conflict studies global governance and IR in general

European Union Military Operations Niklas I. M. Nováky, 2018-01-12 This book offers an in depth study on the deployment of military operations in the framework of the European Union's Common Security and Defence Policy ESDP CSDP While existing studies of the subject are either descriptive or focused on a single level of analysis this book incorporates factors from three different levels of analysis to explain the deployment of ESDP military operations First the international level where the emergence of events that threaten certain values held dear by EU member states catalyses the process leading to an operation second the national level where the member states formulate their initial national preferences towards a prospective deployment based on national utility expectations and third the EU level where the member states come to negotiate and seek compromises to accommodate their different national preferences towards a deployment The strength of this multi level collective action approach is demonstrated by four in depth military case studies which analyse the preference formation of France Germany and the UK towards the deployments of Operation Althea in Bosnia and Herzegovina Operation Artemis and EUFOR RD Congo in the Democratic Republic of the Congo DRC and Operation Atalanta off the coast of Somalia respectively The author draws on a wealth of primary sources including over 50 semi structured interviews conducted with national and EU officials during 2011-15 and provides an up to date overview and critique of the existing theoretical literature on the deployment of ESDP CSDP military operations This book will be of much interest to students of European security EU politics military and strategic studies and International Relations in general

EU Security Strategies Spyros Economides, James Sperling, 2017-12-06 This volume offers a coherent analysis of the European Union's security strategies within a comparative framework If the EU is to survive and prosper as an effective security actor it requires that greater attention be devoted to taking a cohesive and common position on the relationship between EU foreign policy means and goals The major claim of this edited collection is that there is a European grand security strategy that disciplines member state security strategies That grand strategy has two distinct substantive goals 1 the preservation and expansion of the EU system of security governance and 2 the implementation of specific strategies to meet internal and external threats and sources of insecurity The EU has sought to develop a grand security strategy that not only accounts for the proliferation of threats possessing a military or non military character and differentiates between core and peripheral regions of interest but also addresses the requirements to bridge the increasingly blurred boundary between internal and external security threats and the necessary reconciliation of the competing security preferences of its member states The empirical contributions to this volume examine the EU security strategies for specific issue areas and regional threat complexes These case studies assess whether and how those strategies have consolidated or expanded the EU system of security governance as well as their successes and limitations in meeting the security threats confronting the EU and its member states This volume will be of great interest to students of EU policy foreign policy security studies and IR EU-US Cooperation on Internal Security Dimitrios

Anagnostakis,2017-02-17 This book analyses the cooperation between the European Union and the United States on internal security and counter terrorism since the 9 11 terrorist attacks In particular four areas of cooperation are examined customs and supply chain security judicial cooperation the mutual legal assistance and extradition agreements law enforcement cooperation the Europol US agreements and the EU US agreements for the sharing of air passengers data PNR agreements These cases are analysed through a conceptual framework based on the theories of international regimes with the data being drawn from an extensive documentary analysis of media sources collected through the Nexis database official documents and from 13 semi structured elite interviews with US and EU officials The book argues that the EU and the US have established a transatlantic internal security regime based on shared principles norms rules and interests While at the beginning of this process the EU had a more reactive and passive stance at the later stages both the EU and the US were active in shaping the transatlantic political agenda and negotiations The book demonstrates how the EU has had a much more proactive role in its relations with the US than has often been assumed in the current literature This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy foreign policy international security and IR in general The European Defence Agency Nikolaos

Karampekios,Iraklis Oikonomou,2015-04-10 This volume provides a comprehensive understanding of the European Defence Agency EDA the leading EU armaments policy institution Despite its critical role in European strategic and military affairs as the key hub of European policy making in the field of armaments the Agency has hitherto received very little attention by the academic and research community around Europe To fill this gap in the literature the book covers a multitude of inter related themes and topics Not only does it provide a detailed analysis and assessment of the Agency s record as the first institution dealing solely with EU armaments policy but it also links these findings to international relations and European integration theory Thematically the contributions go beyond the mere description of achievements gaps and risks elaborating on novel themes such as space offsets pooling and sharing and transatlantic armaments relations The book combines an interdisciplinary approach to the study of European defence with theoretical and ontological pluralism and seeks to unveil the strategic industrial institutional and ideational sources of armaments collaboration and capability development under the aegis of the EDA The multi faceted orientation of the book will be of much interest to students of European security EU institutions defence studies arms control and international relations in general Legalized Identities Lucas dictatorship to adding places like the Auschwitz Birkenau concentration camp to the World Heritage List. These processes are governed by specific laws and yet transitional justice discourses tend to ignore law's role, assuming that memory in transition emerges organically. This book debunks this assumption, showing how cultural heritage law is integral to what memory and cultural identity is possible in transition. Lixinski attempts to reengage with the original promise of transitional justice to pragmatically advance societies towards a future where atrocities will no longer happen. The promise in the UNESCO Constitution of lasting peace through cultural understanding is possible through focusing on the intersection of cultural heritage law and transitional justice, as Lixinski shows in this ground-breaking book.
