Transnational Television Remakes Claire Perkins,Constantine Verevis,2018-02-02 Providing a cross cultural investigation of the current phenomenon of transnational television remakes and assembling an international team of scholars this book draws upon ideas from transnational media and cultural studies to offer an understanding of global cultural borrowings and format translation While recognising the commercial logic of global television formats that animates these remakes the collection describes the traffic in transnational television remakes not as a one way process of cultural homogenisation but rather as an interstitial process through which cultures borrow from and interact with one another More specifically the chapters attend to recent debates around the transnational flows of local and global media cultures to focus on questions in the televisual realm where issues of serialisation and distribution are prevalent What happens when a series is remade from one national television system to another How is cultural translation handled across series and seasons of differing length and scope What are the narrative and dramaturgical proximities and differences between local and other versions How does the ready availability of original foreign series shape an audience's reception of a local remake How does the rhetoric of Quality TV impact on how these remakes are understood and valued In answering these and other questions this volume at once acknowledges both the historical antecedents to transnational trade in broadcast culture and the global explosion in and cultural significance of transnational television remakes since the beginning of the twenty first century This book was originally published as a special issue of Continuum

Writing Life Writing Paul Eakin, 2020-07-02 Why do we endlessly tell the stories of our lives And why do others pay attention when we do The essays collected here address these questions focusing on three different but interrelated dimensions of life writing The first section Narrative argues that narrative is not only a literary form but also a social and cultural practice and finally a mode of cognition and an expression of our most basic physiology The next section Life Writing Historical Forms makes the case for the historical value of the subjectivity recorded in ego documents The essays in the final section Autobiography Now identify primary motives for engaging in self narration in an age characterized by digital media and quantum cosmology

Books Out Loud, 2007 Crime Fiction and the Law Maria Aristodemou, Fiona Macmillan, Patricia Tuitt, 2016-12-08 This book opens up a range of important perspectives on law and violence by considering the ways in which their relationship is formulated in literature television and film Employing critical legal theory to address the relationship between crime fiction law and justice it considers a range of topics including the relationship between crime fiction legal reasoning and critique questions surrounding the relationship between law and justice gender issues the legal political and social impacts of fictional representations of crime and justice post colonial perspectives on crime fiction as well as the impact of law itself on the crime fiction's development Introducing a new sub field of legal and literary research this book will be of enormous interest to scholars in critical cultural and socio legal studies as well as to others in criminology as well as in literature
