Law as if Earth Really Mattered Nicole Rogers,Michelle Maloney,2017-04-21 This book is a collection of judgments drawn from the innovative Wild Law Judgment Project In participating in the Wild Law Judgment Project which was inspired by various feminist judgment projects contributors have creatively reinterpreted judicial decisions from an Earth centred point of view by rewriting existing judgments or creating fictional judgments as wild law Authors have confronted the specific challenges of aligning existing Western legal systems with Thomas Berry s philosophy of Earth jurisprudence through judgment writing and rewriting This book thus opens up judicial decision making and the common law to critical scrutiny from a wild law or Earth centred perspective Based upon ecocentric rather than human centred or anthropocentric principles Earth jurisprudence poses a unique critical challenge to the dominant anthropocentric or human centred focus and orientation of the common law The authors interrogate the anthropocentric and property rights assumptions embedded in existing common law by placing Earth and the greater community of life at the centre of their rewritten and hypothetical judgments Covering areas as diverse as tort law intellectual property law criminal law environmental law administrative law international law native title law and constitutional law this unique collection provides a valuable tool for practitioners and students who are interested in learning more about the emerging ecological jurisprudence movement It helps us to see more clearly what a new system of law might look like one in which Earth really matters

Patterns of Creation Stephen Pope,2012-06-29 This book is a radical exploration of the mystical teachings in the Gospel of John It helps the reader to experience these spiritual truths for themselves and go beyond the everyday mind which is dominated by the ego and realize their eternal Being which Johns Gospel calls Logos By approaching the teachings in a meditative state the symbolism contained within the Greek text opens out and comes alive in the present moment The Gospel is not a historical document it speaks directly to each person now and the states of consciousness represented in the stories are accessible now The book contains guided meditations to help bring this to life for the reader This awakening concerns our relationship with the whole of life Spiritual consciousness means that we are aware of the sacredness of our connections to each other as fellow human beings and to the creatures of the natural world Christ and the Logos contain both masculine and feminine in balance at this critical time our well being and that of our fellow creatures is dependent on this realization Fire in California's Ecosystems Neil G. Sugihara,2006-11-29 Focusing on California and issues specific to fire ecology and management in the state's bioregions this work provides scientific information for use in land restoration and other management decisions made in the field It introduces the basics of fire ecology and includes an overview of fire vegetation and climate in California and more Ecological Restoration Francisco A. Comín,2010-02-11 This book combines theory and practice plus ideas and case studies on ecological restoration from local to global scales Includes why and how to restore coastal zones forests and wetlands and their economic and social interests Practitioners professionals researchers and students will find useful ideas and tools for their everyday work in this book Embodied Consciousness J. The Myles Munroe's Kingdom Series Dr. Myles Munroe,2015-12-15 The Kingdom of God is here The defining message of Dr Myles Munroe's life and work now available for the first time as a packaged collection While many remember Dr Munroe for delivering exceptional teaching on topics such as purpose potential vision praise and worship leadership and even relationships Restoration Ecology Jelte van Andel,James Aronson,2012-05-21 Enlarged enhanced and internationalized edition of the first restoration ecology textbook to be published with foreword by Dr Steven Whisnant of Texas A M University and Chair of the Society of Ecological Restoration Since 2006 when the first edition of this book appeared major advances have taken place in restoration science and in the practice of ecological restoration Both are now accepted as key components of the increasingly urgent search for sustainability at global national and community levels hence the phrase New Frontier in the title While the first edition focused on ecosystems and landscapes in Europe this new edition covers biomes and contexts all over the world Several new chapters deal with broad issues such as biological invasions climate change and agricultural land abandonment as they relate to restoration science and ecological restoration Case studies are included from Australia North America and the tropics This is an accessible textbook for senior undergraduate and graduate level students and early career scientists The book also provides a solid scientific background for managers volunteers and mid career professionals involved in the practice of ecological restoration Review of the first edition I suspect that this volume will find its way onto the shelves of many restoration researchers and practitioners and will be used as a key text in graduate courses where it will help fill a large void My own copy is already heavily bookmarked and will be a constant source of research ideas and lecture material Environmental Conservation Companion Website A companion website with downloadable figures is available at www.wiley.com/go/vanandel/restorationecology Economic Concentration United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly,1964 Conservation in the Anthropocene Fred Van Dyke,2025-03-06 This book provides a critical assessment of conservation in the Anthropocene grounded in the personal historical and cultural development of human interaction with nature The author argues that conservation can no longer be primarily about preserving nature but must adapt its efforts to promote changes through which humans create a landscape that is neither abandoned nor degraded but used well by humans and non humans alike The book first reviews the origin of ideas and conditions that have led to the concept and classification of the Anthropocene and explores how the author s own interactions with nature were shaped through his experience as a conservation biologist Next it considers how humans have come to be the primary drivers of ecological activity geological events and climate change Chapters then focus on the need for new conservation thinking regarding novel ecosystems urban conservation the role of Indigenous Peoples in conservation and the value of protected areas PAs parks and wilderness The book concludes by identifying strategies for effective conservation and argues for a new formulation of conservation values that redefine human relationships and interaction with nature Chapters are enlivened by the personal experiences of the author and the first person narratives of conservation activists and scientists throughout the world who are learning to practice and succeed in conservation efforts under Anthropogenic conditions Drawing on global examples this book will be of great value to students and scholars of biodiversity conservation and environmental science ready to consider a new way of looking at the care and nurture of nature in the Anthropocene

Treatise on Geomorphology, 2013-02-27 The changing focus and approach of geomorphic research suggests that the time is opportune for a summary of the state of discipline The number of peer reviewed papers published in geomorphic journals has grown steadily for more than two decades and more importantly the diversity of authors with respect to geographic location and disciplinary background geography geology ecology civil engineering computer science geographic information science and others has expanded dramatically As more good minds are drawn to geomorphology and the breadth of the peer reviewed literature grows an effective summary of contemporary geomorphic knowledge becomes increasingly difficult The fourteen volumes of this Treatise on Geomorphology will provide an important reference for users from undergraduate students looking for term paper topics to graduate students starting a literature review for their thesis work and professionals seeking a concise summary of a particular topic Information on the historical development of diverse topics within geomorphology provides context for ongoing research discussion of research strategies equipment and field methods laboratory experiments and numerical simulations reflect the multiple approaches to understanding Earth s surfaces and summaries of outstanding research questions highlight future challenges and suggest productive new avenues for research Our future ability to adapt to geomorphic changes in the critical zone very much hinges upon how well landform scientists comprehend the dynamics of Earth's diverse surfaces. This Treatise on Geomorphology provides a useful synthesis of the state of the discipline as well as highlighting productive research directions that Educators and students/researchers will find useful. Geomorphology has advanced greatly in the last 10 years to become a very interdisciplinary field. Undergraduate students looking for term paper topics to graduate students starting a literature review for their thesis work and professionals seeking a concise summary of a particular topic will find the answers they need in this broad reference work which has been designed and written to accommodate their diverse backgrounds and levels of understanding. Editor in Chief Prof J F Shroder of the University of Nebraska at Omaha is past president of the QGG section of the Geological Society of America and present Trustee of the GSA Foundation while being well respected in the geomorphology research community and having won numerous awards in the field. A host of noted international geomorphologists have contributed state-of-the-art chapters to the work. Readers can be guaranteed that every chapter in this extensive work has been critically reviewed for consistency and accuracy by the World expert Volume Editors and by the Editor in Chief himself. No other reference work exists in the area of Geomorphology that offers the breadth and depth of information contained in this 14 volume masterpiece. From the foundations and history of geomorphology through to geomorphological innovations and computer modelling and the past and future states of landform science, no stone has been left unturned.

Encountering Nature Thomas Heyd, 2016-04-29. This book argues that an attentive encounter with nature is of key importance for the development of an environmentally appropriate culture. The fundamental idea is that the environmental degradation that we are increasingly experiencing is best conceived as the consequence of a cultural mismatch: our cultures seem not to be appropriate to the natural environment in which we move and on which we depend in thoroughgoing ways. In addressing this problem, Thomas Heyd weaves together a rich tapestry of perspectives on human interactions with the natural world ranging from traditional modes of managing human communities that include the natural environment to the consideration of poetic travelogues, ecological restoration, and botanic gardens. The volume is divided into three parts which respectively consider the relation of human beings to nature in terms of ethics, aesthetics, and culture. It engages the current literature in each of these areas with the help of interdisciplinary approaches as well as on the basis of personal encounters with natural spaces and processes. The ultimate aim of this book is to make a contribution to the development of a cultural fabric that is suitable to the natural spaces and processes in which we may thrive and on which we all depend as individuals and as a species.
