Handbook of Moral Motivation Karin Heinrichs, Fritz Oser, Terence Lovat, 2013-06-12 The Handbook of Moral Motivation offers a contemporary and comprehensive appraisal of the age old question about motivation to do the good and to prevent the bad From a research point of view this question remains open even though we present here a rich collection of new ideas and data Two sources helped the editors to frame the chapters first they looked at an overwhelmingly fruitful research tradition on motivation in general attribution theory performance theory self determination theory etc in relationship to morality The second source refers to the tension between moral judgment feelings beliefs and the real moral act in a twofold manner a as a necessary duty and b as a social but not necessary bond In addition the handbook utilizes the latest research from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives wishing to suggest by this that the answer to the posed question will likely not come from one discipline alone Furthermore our hope is that the implicit criticism that the narrowly constructed research approach of the recent past has contributed to closing off rather than opening up interdisciplinary lines of research becomes in this volume a strong counter discourse The editors and authors of the handbook commend the research contained within in the hope that it will contribute to better understanding of humanity as an inherently moral species

Information Technology and Innovation Trends in Organizations Alessandro D'Atri, Maria Ferrara, Joey

F. George, Paolo Spagnoletti, 2011-07-07 The book examines a wide range of issues that characterize the current IT based innovation trends in organisations It contains a collection of research papers focusing on themes of growing interest in the field of Information System Organization Studies and Management The book offers a multi disciplinary view on Information Systems aiming to disseminate academic knowledge It might be particularly relevant to IT practitioners such as information systems managers business managers and IT consultants The volume is divided into XIV sections each one focusing on a specific theme A preface written by Joey George president of the Association for Information Systems opens the text The content of each section is based on a selection of the best papers original double blind peer reviewed contributions presented at the annual conference of the Italian chapter of AIS which has been held in Naples Italy on October 2010 Adolescent Literacy and Writing Courtney Brown, 2020-08-17 Writing is a powerful communication tool It affords the opportunity for creative expression and the analysis of comprehensive thought This monograph describes the authentic writing experiences of three African American adolescent members of an after school writing club situated in a boarding school Without the constraints imposed by deadlines rubrics grading teacher feedback or test centered argumentative compositions members of the club participated in eleven writing sessions where they co constructed meaningful dialogue wrote original manuscripts and developed a supportive social community The sociocultural context of these adolescents experiences with writing presents themes of choice collaboration creativity and catharsis told in a series of dynamic narratives International Journal of Indian Psychology, Volume 6, Issue 1, (No. 2) IJIP.IN, 2018-07-23 New Pedagogical Challenges in the 21st Century Olga Bernad-Cavero, Núria Llevot-Calvet, 2018-07-04 The societies of the twenty first century are subject to social cultural political and economic changes In this context the school is asked to educate the future citizens in the present To respond to this kaleidoscopic reality the school is immersed in a pedagogical revolution In this book the reader will find a selection of avant garde research works from different disciplines and contexts which have their epicenter in the school and in the faculties of education New issues in pedagogy and education and new roles of teachers and students are discussed in a global and diverse context And new methodological and formative proposals are also proposed to build the ideal school and the ideal teacher from the initial and continuous teacher training Learning and Teaching in the Chinese Classroom Shane N. Phillipson, Bick-har Lam, 2011-10-01 A major concern of all education authorities around the world is the challenge that schools face in catering for learner diversity That this concern is shared by authorities in East Asia including the Education Bureau EDB of Hong Kong is surprising given the high academic achievement of students from this part of the world This book helps to meet this challenge for teachers in East Asia by focusing on specific research that helps explain the basis for diversity in the Chinese learner Although there are many textbooks that cover the basic principles of educational psychology few do not focus on the Chinese learner This book makes the link between the broad field of educational psychology and how these theories contribute to our understanding of the Chinese learner This book is unique in that it draws on recent research to illustrate the application of these theories thereby helping teachers and students in teacher education programmes understand the variability in student achievement Our book is based on the idea that the Chinese context is in many ways different to other cultural contexts and that teachers can make a difference to the outcomes of student learning We also draw on our many years of experience in educating future teachers where our students want us to focus on the Chinese classroom Our student teachers also want to be educated by professors who are themselves researchers In drawing on research about the Chinese learner we also bring to our student teachers the richness and value of educational research We also encourage our student teachers to think of themselves as professional researchers in terms of developing an understanding of the research literature and in finding solutions to their classroom problems Creativity and Spirituality Maureen Miner, Martin Dowson, 2017-02-01 The volume was developed to address conceptual relational and formational questions around the phenomena of creativity and spirituality from a multidisciplinary perspective We acknowledge the complexity of each phenomenon and the need for multiple perspectives in a number of ways First different chapters are written from psychological theological or philosophical perspectives Second multiple research perspectives are considered across empirical and phenomenological methods of inquiry Finally multiple associations between creativity and spirituality are evaluated From such multiple perspectives the theme of this volume emerges Both creativity and spirituality are important for individual and societal flourishing but we know little about fostering both in the 21st century Some ways of fostering them are psychologically harmful and need to be avoided New ways of protecting people as they engage in creative and spiritual endeavours are needed In particular formal training in both creativity and spirituality within the sphere of higher education should be developed in the light of current research However new research that integrates multiple perspectives and examines creativity and spirituality together is needed for training that avoids harm and promotes individual and social flourishing The book will be valuable for educators in all disciplines of higher education because it justifies and explicates training in creativity and spirituality within all areas of higher education Further it discusses how such training might best be included within andragogical practice The book will be useful for researchers of creativity and spirituality because it gives an overview of contemporary research issues and findings and proposes a new philosophical theological perspective for integrative research in these areas Students in fields of creativity theology and spirituality will use the book as a synthesis of contemporary theories and research relating to both creativity and spirituality and for direction in post graduate research More broadly Christians and others who appreciate the creative and performing arts will find much to challenge their thinking and deepen their awareness of spirituality within human creativity Cultural

Creating Emotionally Intelligent Workspaces Edward Finch,Guillermo Aranda-Mena,2019-10-02 Emotions in the workplace have until recently been seen simply as a distraction We often think of work as rational logical and non emotional But organisations are waking up to the key role of emotions and affect at work Emotions influence how we make decisions how we relate with one another and how we make sense of our surroundings Whilst organisations are slowly embracing the pivotal role of emotions designers and managers of workplaces have been struggling to keep up New insights from hard sciences such as neuropsychology are presenting a radically different interpretation of emotions Yet workplace designers and facilities managers still rely on measuring non specific states such as satisfaction and stress In this book we attempt to capture modern day interpretations of emotion looking at emotion in terms of transactions and processes rather than simple cause and effect We entertain the idea of an emotionally intelligent building as an alternative to the much hyped intelligent building The assertion is that we should create environments that are emotionally intelligent Rather than focusing on the aptitudes or shortcomings of individuals at work we should place closer attention on the office environment It s not that we are emotionally disabled it s the environment that disables us The ability of you and me to interpret control and express emotions may not simply be a result of our own make up A radically different outlook considers how our workspace and workplace debilitates or enables our emotional understanding In the modern workplace there are many innovations that can undermine our emotional intelligence such poorly implemented hot desking or lean environments Contrariwise there are key innovations such as Activity Based Working ABW that have the potential to enhance our emotional state Through a series of unique case studies from around the world we investigate key concepts that can be used by designers and facilities managers alike No longer should designers be asked to incorporate emotional elements as intangible un costed add ons This book provides a shot in the arm for workplace design professionals pointing to a new way of thinking based on the emotional intelligence of the workplace The Psychology of Driving on Rural Roads Gert Weller,2010-07-07 Rural roads constitute the most dangerous road category with regard to the number of fatal accidents In order to increase traffic safety on rural roads it is necessary to take into account not only their inherent properties but also their effect on behaviour Gert Weller develops a psychological model for driving on rural roads which is validated in three empirical steps laboratory simulator and driving experiments His results provide insight into the possibilities of how driving behaviour on rural roads can be influenced and give practical guidance for the enhancement of rural road safety The book is written for psychologists in the fields of traffic psychology and human factors research traffic engineers road planners as well as for political decision makers in traffic planning departments Socio-Psychological

Re-Evaluating Education in Japan and Korea Hyunjoon Park,2013-07-18 International comparisons of student achievement in mathematics science and reading have consistently shown that Japanese and Korean students outperform their peers in other parts of world Understandably this has attracted many policymakers and researchers seeking to emulate this success but it has also attracted strong criticism and a range of misconceptions of the Japanese and Korean education system Directly challenging these misconceptions which are prevalent in both academic and public discourses this book seeks to provide a more nuanced view of the Japanese and Korean education systems This includes the idea that the highly standardized means of education makes outstanding students mediocre that the emphasis on memorization leads to a lack of creativity and independent thinking that students successes are a result of private supplementary education and that the Japanese and Korean education systems are homogenous to the point of being one single system Using empirical data Hyunjoon Park re evaluates the strengths and weaknesses of the existing education systems in Japan and Korea and reveals whether the issues detailed above are real or unfounded and misinformed Offering a balanced view of the evolving and complex nature of academic achievement among Japanese and Korean students this book will appeal to students and scholars of Asian international and comparative education as well as those interested in Asian society more broadly

Science as Psychology Lisa M. Osbeck, Nancy J. Nersessian, Kareen R. Malone, Wendy C.
