How Should a Person Be? Sheila Heti, 2012-06-19 Chosen as one of fifteen remarkable books by women that are shaping the way we read and write in the 21st century by the book critics of The New York Times Funny odd original and nearly unclassifiable unlike any novel I can think of David Haglund The New York Times Book Review Brutally honest and stylistically inventive cerebral and sexy San Francisco Chronicle Named a Book of the Year by The New York Times Book Review The New Yorker San Francisco Chronicle Salon Flavorpill The New Republic The New York Observer The Huffington Post A raw startling genre defying novel of friendship sex and love in the new millennium a compulsive read that's like spending a day with your new best friend Bookforum Reeling from a failed marriage Sheila a twentysomething playwright finds herself unsure of how to live and create When Margaux a talented painter and free spirit and Israel a sexy and depraved artist enter her life Sheila hopes that through close sometimes too close observation of her new friend her new lover and herself she might regain her footing in art and life Using transcribed conversations real emails plus heavy doses of fiction the brilliant and always innovative Sheila Heti crafts a work that is part literary novel part self help manual and part bawdy confessional It's a totally shameless and dynamic exploration into the way we live now which breathes fresh wisdom into the eternal questions What is the sincerest way to love What kind of person should you be The Self-Help Compulsion Beth Blum, 2020-01-28 Samuel Beckett as a guru for business executives James Joyce as a guide to living a good life The notion of notoriously experimental authors sharing a shelf with self help books might seem far fetched yet a hidden history of rivalry influence and imitation links these two worlds In The Self Help Compulsion Beth Blum reveals the profound entanglement of modern literature and commercial advice from the late nineteenth century to the present day Blum explores popular reading practices in which people turn to literature in search of practical advice alongside modern writers rebukes of such instrumental purposes As literary authors positioned themselves in opposition to people like Samuel Smiles and Dale Carnegie readers turned to self help for the promises of mobility agency and practical use that serious literature was reluctant to supply Blum unearths a series of unlikely cases of the love hate relationship between serious fiction and commercial advice from Gustave Flaubert's mockery of early DIY culture to Dear Abby's cutting diagnoses of Nathanael West and from Virginia Woolf's ambivalent polemics against self improvement to the ways that contemporary global authors such as Mohsin Hamid and Tash Aw explicitly draw on the self help genre She also traces the self help industry's tendency to popularize quote and adapt literary wisdom and considers what it might have to teach today's university Offering a new history of self help's origins appeal and cultural and literary import around the world this book reveals that self help's most valuable secrets are not about getting rich or winning friends but about how and why people read Authorship's Wake Philip Sayers, 2020-12-10 Authorship's Wake examines the aftermath of the 1960s critique of the author epitomized by Roland Barthes's essay The Death of the Author This critique has given rise to a body of writing that confounds generic distinctions separating the literary and the theoretical Its archive consists of texts by writers who either directly participated in this critique as Barthes did or whose intellectual formation took place in its immediate aftermath These writers include some who are known primarily as theorists Judith Butler others known primarily as novelists Zadie Smith David Foster Wallace and yet others whose texts are difficult to categorize the autofiction of Chris Kraus Sheila Heti and Ben Lerner the autotheory of Maggie Nelson These writers share not only a central motivating question how to move beyond the critique of the author subject but also a way of answering it by writing texts that merge theoretical concerns with literary discourse Authorship s Wake traces the responses their work offers in relation to four themes communication intention agency and labor

It does so by drawing on Greek, Asian, African, Continental, and Feminist thinkers and exploring a myriad of literary works to illustrate and interrogate the theories.

The Narrowing Alexandra Shaker, 2025-03-04. A powerful reframing of anxiety. Anna Mathur, author of The Uncomfortable Truth. Compassionate, thoughtful, and nuanced. I loved this beautiful, brilliant book. Lucy Jones, author of Matrescence. A transformative and compassionate exploration of anxiety. Galit Atlas, Ph.D., author of Emotional Inheritance. Most of us are intimately familiar with anxiety and with its increasing hold on our minds, our hopes and plans, and our bodies. But how well do we really understand it, and what can we do to transform it into something new, into resilience or courage or creativity? In this extraordinary book, Dr. Alexandra Shaker, a clinical psychologist, takes us on a journey through the body, from brain to blood to heart to guts, to examine the connections between our emotional, psychological, and physical lives. She unravels what the body can teach us about anxiety and what we can learn from our long cultural history of the anxious impulse. Melding psychology, neuroscience, history, and literature, she considers why, despite all the checklists and scientific advancements, we are still struggling to outrun our oldest terrors, and how a new approach focused on accepting anxiety as part of the human condition can help revolutionise our relationship with it.
