Institutionalisierung und Koordination von Auslandseinheiten Dirk Morschett,2010-01-10 Die internationale Unternehmenstätigkeit hat insbesondere in den beiden letzten Dekaden des 20. Jahrhunderts eine enorme Bedeutung erlangt Zunehmend wird daher zum Teil auch mit Skepsis von der Globalisierung der Unternehmen oder gar der Wirtschaft gesprochen. Evident und daher in der Literatur auch unstrittig ist, dass die Führung eines international tätigen Unternehmens ungleich komplexer ist als die Führung eines nur national agierenden Unternehmens. Die Ursachen hierfür liegen u.a. in der Vielgestaltigkeit der Umfeldentwicklungen und in einem meist gegebenen Spannungsfeld zwischen einer notwendigen Adaption an die jeweiligen Gegebenheiten in den Gastländern einerseits und einer möglichst weltweit standardisierten Vorgehensweise andererseits. Mit der zunehmenden Internationalisierung von Unternehmen wird der von den Auslandseinheiten erwirtschaftete Beitrag zum Unternehmensergebnis immer wichtiger. Zugleich ist eine veränderte qualitative Bedeutung der Auslandseinheiten zu konstatieren. Den Auslandseinheiten werden in steigendem Maße auch strategisch bedeutsame Rollen übertragen, die einen wesentlichen Einfluss auf die internationale Wettbewerbsfähigkeit des Gesamtunternehmens haben, so insbesondere im Zusammenhang mit neueren Organisationsformen international tätiger Unternehmen wie der transnationalen Organisation.

The Dynamics of International Information Systems Hans Lehmann,2010-03-17 The serious difficulties facing the developer of international information systems i.e. supporting business functions in different countries are widely known and their propensity to catastrophic failure has been acknowledged among practitioners for quite some time. Despite the often pivotal importance that such systems generally have, scholarly research in this field has been surprisingly sparse. Information technology applications with a global range and reach are still largely unstudied and under explored. Subsequently, there is a distinct dearth of theoretical frameworks for dealing with them. After a career in information technology line management, I have been involved with multinational enterprises and their information systems for over a decade as a consultant working in Africa, the UK, continental Europe, North America and Australasia. It was on joining a university in the early nineties that I discovered the near vacuum in this field of research. When I decided to make international information systems my field of research, it became clear that fairly fundamental work needed to be done I started the project described further on more than 10 years ago It turned out a fairly difficult necessarily broad based and eventually longitudinal research

International Human Resource Management P. L. Rao, 2008 Managing people in a multinational context is the essence of international human resource management This requires a broader perspective of what operating internationally involves and a clear recognition of the range of issues pertaining to all categories of staff operating in different functional task and managerial capacities Books that are available on the subject are heavily loaded with cultural aspects rather than HRM processes From teaching experience it is noticed that students who are familiar with domestic HRM books find it difficult to comprehend the subject of international HRM Therefore the topics are arranged in the traditional HRM style with international implications at each stage A separate chapter is allocated for Expatriation Repatriation Similarly Management of People in international context in sixteen countries is discussed in a separate chapter The text aims to cover in terms of industries to illustrate the activities and approaches of international organisations Also the coverage of different cultures is not intended to include all the different and diverse cultures of the world simply to enable sufficient understanding of the cultural contexts from which many of the approaches are derived and to provide background on the appropriateness of different aspects of managing people in international organisations A detailed treatment to empirical researches on cross cultural issues and cross cultural comparative management issues arising out of cross border mergers and acquisitions as well as human resource issues emerging out of global acquisitions of Arcelor and Corus by Indian companies and companies of Indian origin are also treated in the text

Success Factors of Regional Strategies for Multinational Corporations Patrick Heinecke, 2011-01-15 This work examines the factors that drive the success of Multinational Corporations MNCs in their pursuit of regional strategies The author develops a comprehensive regional success factor model by which the effects of regional management autonomy and regional product and service adaptation on the regional success of MNCs as well as the interaction effects of regional orientation and inter regional distance are investigated The model is evaluated by means of the partial least squares PLS method on the basis of a survey based inquiry of the Fortune Global 500 firms with success indicator data for a period of nine years The findings highlight the importance of considering the different degrees of contextual influence in the design of regional strategies where low degrees of regional management autonomy and high levels of regional product service adaptation are found to be appropriate for MNCs to be regionally successful
