

Bells & Pomegranates of the High Priest's Robe פעמוני זהב ורימוני זהב של מעיל התכלת

And on its pommels thou shalt make pomegranates of blue, purple, and crimson velvet, on its bottom hem all around, and golden bells in their midst all around.

A golden bell with a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, on the bottom hem of the robe, all around.

It shall be on Aaron when he performs the service, and its sound shall be heard when he enters the Holy before the Shewbread and when he leaves, so that he will not die. (Exodus 28:33-35)

Seventy-two golden bells and seventy-two pomegranates line the hem of the blue robe of the High Priest.

Excerpt from Bells and Pomegranates First Series

So far as I know this Tragedy is the first artistic consequence of what Voltaire termed a terrible event without consequences and although it professes to be historical I have taken more pains to arrive at the history than most readers would thank me for particularizing since acquainted as I will hope them to be with the chief circumstances of Victor's remarkable European career nor quite ignorant of the sad and surprising facts I am about to reproduce a tolerable account of which is to be found for instance in Abbe Roman's Recit or even the fifth of Lord Orrery's Letters from Italy I cannot expect them to be versed nor desirous of becoming so in all the detail of the memoirs correspondence and relations of the time From these only may be obtained a knowledge of the fiery and audacious temper unscrupulous selfishness profound dissimulation and singular fertility in resources of Victor the extreme and painful sensibility prolonged immaturity of powers earnest good purpose and vacillating will of Charles the noble and right woman's manliness of his wife and the ill considered rascality and subsequent better advised rectitude of D Ormea

When I say therefore that I cannot but believe my statement combining as it does what appears correct in Voltaire and plausible in Condorcet more true to person and thing than any it has hitherto been my fortune to meet with no doubt my word will be taken and my evidence spared as readily R B
