Fuentes, 2023-06-21 Digital Learning in High Needs Schools examines the challenges and affordances that arise when high needs school communities integrate educational technologies into their unique settings. Although remote, blended, and networked learning are ubiquitous today, a number of cultural, economic, and political realities from the digital divide and digital literacy to poverty and language barriers affect our most vulnerable and underresourced teachers and students. This book uses critical theory to compassionately scrutinize and unpack the systemic issues that impact high needs schools' implementation of digital learning tools. incisive sociocultural analyses across fifteen original chapters explore the intersection of society, technology, people, politics, and education in high needs school contexts. Informed by real-world cases pertaining to technology infrastructure, formative feedback, Universal Design for Learning, and more, these chapters illuminate how best practices emerge from culturally responsive and context-specific foundations.

Explanatory Models, Unit Standards, and Personalized Learning in Educational Measurement William P. Fisher Jr., Paula J. Massengill, 2022-10-15 The papers by Jack Stenner included in this book document the technical details of an art and science of measurement that creates new entrepreneurial business opportunities. Jack brought theory, instruments, and data together in ways that are applicable not only in the context of a given test of reading or mathematics ability but which more importantly catalyzed literacy and numeracy capital in new, fungible expressions. Though Jack did not reflect in writing on the inferential, constructive processes in which he engaged, much can be learned by reviewing his work with his accomplishments in mind. A Foreword by Stenner's colleague and co-author on multiple works, William P. Fisher Jr., provides key clues concerning how Jack's understanding of measurement and its values aligns with social and historical studies of science and technology and how recent developments in collaborations of psychometricians and metrologists are building on and expanding Jack's accomplishments.
