EXERCISES

Ex 5-1. ABC method

The Sanka Company manufactures a variety of expensive furniture. Its job costing system was designed using an activity based approach. There are two direct cost categories (direct materials and direct labor) and three indirect cost pools. These three cost pools represent three activity areas at the plant.

Activity Area	Budgeted OH	Cost driver	Pool rate
Materials handling	P200,000	Parts	P2.5
Cutting	P2,160,000	Parts	P25.00
Assembly	P2,000,000	DLH	P250.00

Two styles of cabinets were produced in May, De Luxe and Standard. Their quantities, direct material costs and other data for May 2010 are as follows:

	Production	DM cost	# of parts	DL Hours
Standard	5,000	P3,500,000	100,000	7,500
De Luxe	100	P400,000	3,500	1,500

Modern Product Costing Technique in the Age of Competition Romeo G. Manalo, Marivic V. Manalo, 2011-03-24
This book addresses an important issue the nature of and evidence for success in the transfer costing of internal services or shared services or products within a company The case of activity based costing ABC is used to explore how the proponents have developed a framework linking Quality Cost and Delivery QCD components of products and services The QCD performance indices which are the natural properties of products and services will form part of the Service Level Agreements between the internal service providers Shared Services Centers and internal customers Profit Centers of the company This framework optimizes the use of overhead expenses to the end products of the company This book also discusses the various cost components of the products and services using the full absorption costing principle It is a revolutionary idea in the sense that all activity costs are considered variable costs and product costs come from activity costs using various cost drivers The Principal Component Analysis PCA the multi variate statistical tool is applied using SPSS to analyze which independent variables contribute significantly to the Product Unit Price PUP and which should be given more emphasis in decision making
