Cultural Conversations, 2001 Cultural Conversations Stephen Dilks, Regina Hansen, Matthew Parfitt, 2000-09-05

This unique new thematic composition reader brings together six key texts from the past and multiple contemporary reverberations to engage students in some of today's most significant cultural conversations Roman Catholicism in

Fantastic Film Regina Hansen, 2011-08-31 The intersection of religious practice and theatricality has long been a subject of interest to scholars This collection of twenty-two critical essays addresses the relationship between Roman Catholicism and films of the fantastic which includes the genres of fantasy horror science fiction and the supernatural The collection covers a range of North American and European films from Dracula and other vampire movies to Miracle at Fatima The Exorcist Danny Boyle's Millions The Others Maurice Pialat's Sous le Soleil de Satan the movies of Terry Gilliam and George Romero's zombie series Collectively these essays reveal the durability and thematic versatility of what the authors term the Catholic fantastic Anthropological Conversations Caroline B. Brettell, 2014-10-23 Cultural anthropologists can be an intellectually adventurous crowd open even eager to building bridges across disciplines in the name of understanding human behavior and the human experience more broadly In this first of its kind book Caroline Brettell explores the cross disciplinary conversations that have engaged cultural anthropologists both past and present Brettell highlights a handful of conversations between the discipline of anthropology on the one hand and history geography literature biology psychology and demography on the other She also pinpoints how these exchanges address three enduring issues of anthropological concern the temporal and the spatial dimensions of human experience the scientific and the humanistic dimensions of the anthropological enterprise and the individual and the group population as units of analysis in research Anthropological Conversations offers detailed accounts of particular ethnographic methodologies and findings and the theoretical trends informing them as a means of grasping the big picture issues Brettell clearly shows that by engaging with other fields cultural anthropologists have been able to think more deeply about what they mean by culture through this book she invites readers to continue the conversation Metaliterate Learning for the Post-Truth World Thomas P. Mackey, Trudi E. Jacobson, 2019-07-03

Foreword by Troy A Swanson Metaliteracy Jacobson and Mackey's revolutionary framework for information literacy is especially well suited as a tool for ensuring that learners can successfully navigate the proliferation of fake news questionable content and outright denialism of facts in today's information morass Indeed it is starkly evident that the competencies knowledge and personal attributes specific to metaliterate individuals are critical digital literacy and traditional conceptions of information literacy are insufficient for the significant challenges we currently face This book examines the newest version of the Metaliteracy Goals and Learning Objectives including the four domains of metaliterate learning as well as the relationship between metaliteracy and the ACRL Framework for Information Literacy for Higher Education Featuring contributions from a variety of information literacy instructors educators librarians and faculty the chapters in this book discuss the social political and ethical dimensions of information creation distribution and use use case studies to demonstrate how metaliteracy guides learners to read online information with a critical eye apply metacognitive thinking to the consumption of all information and make purposeful and responsible contributions to the social media ecosystem as active participants examine when images are taken out of context and paired with misleading text a prevalent feature of the misinformation frequently shared via social media and situates metaliteracy in such contexts such as the academic library a science class fiction writing digital storytelling and a theater arts course Metaliteracy is a powerful model for preparing learners to be responsible participants in today s divisive information environment and this book showcases several teaching and learning practices that have already proven effective Conceptions of Literacy Meaghan

Brewer,2020-05-01 Addressing the often fraught and truncated nature of educating new writing instructors Conceptions of Literacy proposes a theoretical framework for examining new graduate student instructors preexisting attitudes and beliefs about literacy Based on an empirical study author Meaghan Brewer conducted with graduate students teaching first year composition for the first time Conceptions of Literacy draws on narratives interviews and classroom observations to describe the conceptions of literacy they have already unknowingly established and how these conceptions impact the way they teach in their own classrooms Brewer argues that conceptions of literacy undergird the work of writing instructors and that many of the anxieties around composition studies disciplinary status are related to the differences perceived between the field s conceptions of literacy and those of the graduate instructors and adjuncts who teach the majority of composition courses Conceptions of Literacy makes practical recommendations for how new graduate instructors can begin to perceive and interrogate their conceptions of literacy which while influential are often too personal to recognize Private History in Public Tammy S. Gordon,2010-01-16

In small community museums truck stops restaurants bars barbershops schools and churches people create displays to tell the histories that matter to them Much of this history is personal family history community history history of a trade or the history of something considered less than genteel It is often history based on the historical record but also based on feelings beliefs and memory It is neglected history Private History in Public is about those history exhibits that complicate the public private dichotomy exhibits that serve to explain communities families and individuals to outsiders and tie insiders together through a shared narrative of historical experience Tammy S Gordon looks beyond the large professionalized museum exhibits that have dominated scholarship in museum studies and public history and offers a new way of understanding the broad spectrum of exhibition types in the United States The Oxford

Handbook of History and Material Culture Ivan Gaskell,Sarah Anne Carter,2020-04-07 Most historians rely principally on written sources Yet there are other traces of the past available to historians the material things that people have chosen made and used This book examines how material culture can enhance historians understanding of the past both worldwide and across time The successful use of material culture in history depends on treating material things of many kinds not as illustrations but as primary evidence Each kind of material thing and there are many requires the application of interpretive skills appropriate to it These skills overlap with those acquired by scholars in disciplines that may abut history but are often relatively unfamiliar to historians including anthropology archaeology and art history Creative historians can adapt and apply the same skills they honed while studying more traditional text based documents even as they borrow methods from these fields They can think through familiar historical problems in new ways They can also deploy material culture to discover the pasts of constituencies who have left few or no traces in written records The authors of this volume contribute case studies arranged thematically in six sections that respectively address the relationship of history and material culture to cognition technology the symbolic social distinction and memory They range across time and space from Paleolithic to Punk
