The Intentional Dynamics of TESOL Juup Stelma, Achilleas Kostoulas, 2021-04-19 This book presents intentional dynamics which is a new perspective on TESOL contexts, activity and outcomes. The key innovation is a synthesis of complex systems and ecological theories as well as the concept of intentionality from the philosophy of mind to understand the psychological and social processes of TESOL. One aspect of intentional dynamics is the ordinary intentions of individuals to perform particular actions and of organisations to achieve planned outcomes. Another aspect is philosophically defined psychological and social forms of intentionality. Psychological intentionality is understood as what language learners and teachers and other stakeholders believe and emotions are about or directed at. Social intentionality is the aboutness expressed by TESOL materials, curricula and policies. The book explores how intentional dynamics both emerge from and give shape to TESOL activity and outlines what are the practical implications of intentional dynamics for TESOL learners, teachers, researchers, managers and policy makers.

Transfer and Interference in Language Monika Brüggemeier, Dietmar Fütterer, 1984 The topic of this bibliography, in its broadest sense, is the subject of a wide range of academic disciplines. Given these circumstances, the particular associations and connotations of the terms transfer and interference in each of these areas are legion, with resultant differences in meaning in the disparate literature on these subjects. And yet it is in one way or another, contact and interaction of languages in the speaker, hearer and learner in language acquisition contexts as well as in society in general, which is basic to these two concepts throughout the various disciplines. The discovery of this basic unitary notion is surely one of the reasons for the new interest in these phenomena. In light of all this, a bibliography cannot at present avoid being highly selective in order to demarcate an interdisciplinary area of research in its own right and with its own status. The establishment of such an area is one of our main aims. The focus of interest in this bibliography admittedly is directed towards the psycholinguistics of language contact and interaction.

Teaching English from Classes to Masses Sanjay Arora, 2017-05-11 This volume brings together articles based on experimental and theoretical research from teachers working in diverse teaching backgrounds with varying experience, from research scholars to school teachers, from college and university teachers in India to a British native teaching in China. The contributions here provide a mix of global and local teaching scenarios addressing the need for diagnostic tests, developing need-based material using the mother tongue to ensure active participation of the masses and re examining the language policies in Asian countries The papers collected here also explore the implementation of Task based Language Teaching the integration of technology in developing language skills and the use of games and activities to engage the interest of low level learners while teaching both literature and language further linking them with their culture and society The book offers a reflection of the changes that have taken place in the teaching environment in the last two decades with the introduction of Communicative Language Teaching and as such will be of immense help for policy framers and educators in South Asian countries and in countries where English is a second or foreign language Furthermore the volume offers valuable information for researchers working in the field of English Language Teaching ELT which can be used for reviewing literature and exploring the directions in which the new teaching methods and approaches are leading and establishing the validity of research
