Routledge International Handbook of Food Studies Ken Albala, 2013-05-07 Over the past decade there has been a remarkable flowering of interest in food and nutrition both within the popular media and in academia. Scholars are increasingly using foodways, food systems and eating habits as a new unit of analysis within their own disciplines and students are rushing into classes and formal degree programs focused on food. Introduced by the editor and including original articles by over thirty leading food scholars from around the world, the Routledge International Handbook of Food Studies offers students, scholars and all those interested in food-related research a one-stop, easy-to-use reference guide. Each article includes a brief history of food research within a discipline or on a particular topic, a discussion of research methodologies and ideological or theoretical positions, resources for research including archives, grants and fellowship opportunities as well as suggestions for further study. Each entry also explains the logistics of succeeding as a student and professional in food studies. This clear, direct Handbook will appeal to those hoping to start a career in academic food studies as well as those hoping to shift their research to a food-related project. Strongly interdisciplinary, this work will be of interest to students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities.

Hunger spüren Isabella Marcinski, 2020-11-25 Für das Erleben von Hunger spielen soziale Bedingungen eine große Rolle. Leib und Sozialität stehen also so die These dieses Buches in einem engen Zusammenhang. Das gilt besonders für Essstörungen. Anhand vielfältiger Phänomene des Hungers zeigt die Autorin, dass der Leib historisch ebenso von Machtwirkungen durchzogen ist wie der Körper und das Selbst. Hierfür verbindet sie phänomenologische Überlegungen mit sozialphilosophischen und praxistheoretischen Ansätzen.

Human Resilience Against Food Insecurity John Michael Ashley, 2018-05-29 Human Resilience against Food Insecurity focuses on the human factors involved in building resilience against food and nutrition.

insecurity in perpetuity through better managing risks such as better spacing of children diversifying the asset portfolio behavioral change and communication strategies for to help achieve these goals The better the coherence and convergence amongst these human factors that promote sustainable food and nutrition security the lower the need to rectify their absence through post facto unsustainable firemen s work of humanitarian assistance and CMAM clinics The book includes references to countries which are not in the lowest of the categories prescribed in the UNDP Human Development reports also including minority groups in developed countries such as the hunter gatherer Inuit communities of Canada to provide an inclusive view of the issues and concerns relevant to addressing food insecurity Includes a global array of case studies Presents stories of success and failure in building resilience against food insecurity with the causative human aspect underlying each Addresses the social and cultural anthropological foundation of combatting food and nutrition insecurity     Food and the Self Isabelle de Solier,2013-10-10 We often hear that selves are no longer formed through producing material things at work but by consuming them in leisure leading to meaningless modern lives This important book reveals the cultural shift to be more complex demonstrating how people in postindustrial societies strive to form meaningful and moral selves through both the consumption and production of material culture in leisure Focusing on the material culture of food the book explores these theoretical questions through an ethnography of those individuals for whom food is central to their self foodies It examines what foodies do and why they do it through an in depth study of their lived experiences The book uncovers how food offers a means of shaping the self not as a consumer but as an amateur who engages in both the production and consumption of material culture and adopts a professional approach which reveals the new moralities of productive leisure in self formation The chapters examine a variety of practices from fine dining and shopping to cooking and blogging and include rare data on how people use media such as cookbooks food television and digital food media in their everyday life This book is ideal for students scholars and anyone interested in the meaning of food in modern life     The Routledge International Handbook of Colorism Ronald E. Hall,Neha Mishra,2024-08-04 This timely and unique edited book explores the concept of colorism which is discrimination based on the color of a person s skin It takes a global approach that draws on authentic voices from varied contexts and is dedicated to exploring and enriching the diverse intellectual discourse on colorism The book explores colorism across the globe and studies how it has been woven into the cultural fabric of communities of color With 22 chapters organised geographically into parts representing six continents it looks at various facets of colorism offering international insights beyond a Western perspective The handbook examines policy making in the sphere of colorism internationally and across countries and provides thoughtful insights on colorism discrimination in different contexts Chapters are written by leading experts from different disciplinary backgrounds who present cutting edge research on the topic of colorism in different country contexts contributing to a global dialogue on colorism The Routledge International Handbook of Colorism comprehensively highlights colorism and skin color bias which blurs the national and international boundaries It will be

Crossing Back Marianna De Marco Torgovnick, 2021-09-14 From the award winning author of Crossing Ocean Parkway a personal memoir about adjusting to loss through books meditation and the process of memory itself Marianna De Marco Torgovnick experienced the rupture of two of her life's most intimate relations when her mother and brother died in close proximity Mourning rocked her life but it also led to the solace and insight offered by classic books and the practice of meditation Her resulting journey into the past imagines a viable future and raises questions acute for Italian Americans but pertinent to everyone about the nature of memory and the meanings of home at a time like ours marked by cultural disruption and wartime Crossing Back Books Family and Memory without Pain presents a personal perspective on death mourning loss and renewal A sequel to her award winning and much anthologized Crossing Ocean Parkway Crossing Back is about close familial ties and personal loss written after the death of her remaining birth family who had always been there and now were not After their loss she entered a spiritual and psychological state of transcendental homelessness the feeling of being truly at home nowhere of being spiritually adrift In a grand act of symbolic reenactment she found herself moving apartments repeatedly not realizing she did so subconsciously to keep busy to stave off grief By reading and studying great books she opened up to mourning a process she constitutionally resisted as somehow shameful Over time she discovered that a third death colored and prolonged her feelings of grief her first child's death in infancy which in the course of a happier lifetime had never been adequately acknowledged Her new losses led her finally to take stock of her son's death too Reading and meditating followed by writing became daily her healing rituals A warm and intimate user's guide to books family and memory in the mourning process the end point being memory without pain Crossing Back is a wide ranging memoir about growing older and learning to ride the waves of change Lively and conversational Torgovnick is masterful at tracking the moment to moment day to day challenges of sudden or protracted grief and the ways in which the mind and the body seem to search for and sometimes find solutions

Soju Hyunhee Park, 2021-02-18 Hyunhee Park offers the first global historical study of soju the distinctive distilled drink of Korea Searching for soju's origins Park leads us into the vast complex world of premodern Eurasia She demonstrates how the Mongol conquests of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries wove together hemispheric flows of trade empire scientific and technological transfer and created the conditions for the development of a singularly Korean drink Soju's rise in Korea marked the evolution of a new material culture through ongoing interactions between the global and local and between tradition and innovation in the adaptation and localization of new technologies Park's vivid new history shows how these cross cultural encounters laid the foundations for the creation of a globally connected world

Food Television and Otherness in the Age of Globalization Casey Ryan Kelly, 2017-02-09 Food Television and Otherness in the Age of Globalization examines the growing popularity of food and travel television and its implications for how we understand the relationship between food place and identity Attending to programs such as Bizarre Foods Bizarre Foods America The Pioneer Woman Diners Drive Ins and Dives Man vs Food and No Reservations Casey Ryan Kelly critically examines the emerging rhetoric of culinary television attending to how American audiences are invited to understand the cultural and economic significance of global foodways This book shows how food television exoticizes foreign cultures erases global poverty and contributes to myths of American exceptionalism It takes television seriously as a site for the reproduction of cultural and economic mythology where representations of food and consumption become the commonsense of cultural difference and economic success The Nightmare Before Christmas Filipa Antunes, Brittany Eldridge, Rebecca Williams, 2025-02-20 This edited collection considers The Nightmare Before Christmas as a milestone in animation and film history considering the different layers of meaning and history of the film from pre production to the present day The Nightmare Before Christmas Henry Selick 1993 has become a key point of reference in negotiations of genre and the boundaries between mainstream and cult cultures both on screen and in the spaces of fandom and in original and retrospective reception contexts where it often becomes tangled with nostalgia Contributors to this edited collection consider the film as a cultural object with significant impact on animation representations of family and horror and fandom and subcultures Covering topics including representations of fairy tales Christmas media cultural appropriation family horror merchandise theme parks and food this work explores the film s ongoing cultural impact The Routledge International Handbook to Veils and Veiling Anna-Mari Almila, David Inglis, 2017-07-06 Veils and veiling are controversial topics in social and political life generating debates across the world The veil is enmeshed within a complex web of relations encompassing politics religion and gender and conflicts over the nature of power legitimacy belief freedom agency and emancipation In recent years the veil has become both a potent and unsettling symbol and a rallying point for discourse and rhetoric concerning women Islam and the nature of politics Early studies in gender doctrine and politics of veiling appeared in the 1970s following the Islamic revival and re veiling trends that were dramatically expressed by 1979 s Iranian Islamic revolution In the 1990s research focussed on the development of both an Islamic culture industry and greater urban middle class consumption of Islamic garments and dress styles across the Islamic world In the last decade academics have studied Islamic fashion and marketing the political role of the headscarf the veiling of other religious groups such as Jews and Christians and secular forms of modest dress Using work from contributors across a range of disciplinary backgrounds and locations this book brings together these research strands to form the most comprehensive book ever conceived on this topic As such this handbook will be of interest to scholars and students of fashion gender studies religious studies politics and sociology Food, Nutrition and the Media Valentina Marinescu, 2020-08-03 Placed at the crossroads of diverse disciplines medical sciences information and communication science sociology of food agricultural sciences this book focuses on media food and nutrition Contributors to this volume come from different countries including the United Kingdom Germany Mexico and Romania and consider comparatively their native cultures The book answers several questions How are food and nutrition made visible and publicized What is the role of media in relation to food and nutrition What are the strategies of discourses surrounding food and nutrition within new public spaces      Anthropocene Ecologies of Food Simon C. Estok, S. Susan Deborah, Rayson K. Alex, 2022-06-22 Anthropocene Ecologies of Food provides a detailed exploration of cross cultural aspects of food production culinary practices and their ecological underpinning in culture The authors draw connections between humans and the entire process of global food production focusing on the broad implications these processes have within the geographical and cultural context of India Each chapter analyzes and critiques existing agricultural food practices and representations of aspects of food through various media such as film literature and new media as they relate to global issues generally and Indian contexts specifically correcting the omission of analyses focused on the Global South in virtually all of the work that has been done on Anthropocene ecologies of food This unique volume employs an ecocritical framework that connects food with the land in physical and virtual communities and the book as a whole interrogates the meanings and implications of the Anthropocene itself      Nourishing Life Arianna Huhn, 2020-09-10 In this accessible ethnography of a small town in northern Mozambique everyday cultural knowledge and behaviors about food cooking and eating reveal the deeply human pursuit of a nourishing life This emerges less through the consumption of specific nutrients than it does in the affective experience of alimentation in contexts that support vitality compassion and generative relations Embedded within central themes in the study of Africa south of the Sahara the volume combines insights from philosophy and food studies to find textured layers of meaning in a seemingly simple cuisine      Critical Approaches to Superfoods Emma McDonell, Richard Wilk, 2020-12-10 Are superfoods just a marketing device another label meant to attract the eye Or do superfoods tell us a deeper story about how food and health relate in a global marketplace full of anonymous commodities In the past decade superfoods have taken US and European grocery stores by storm Novel commodities like quinoa and moringa along with familiar products such as almonds and raw milk are now called superfoods promising to promote health and increase our energy While consumers may find the magic of superfoods attractive the international development sector now envisions superfoods acting as cures to political and economic problems like poverty and malnutrition Critical Approaches to Superfoods examines the politics and culture of superfoods It demonstrates how studying superfoods can reveal shifting concepts of nutritional authority the complexities of intellectual property and bioprospecting the role marketing agencies play in the agro industrial complex and more The multidisciplinary contributors draw their examples from settings as diverse as South India Peru and California to engage with foodstuffs that include quinoa almonds fish meal Rooibos Tea kale and a a      The Food Network Recipe Emily L. Newman, Emily Witsell, 2021-04-21 When the Television Food Network launched in 1993 its programming was conceived as educational it would teach people how to cook well with side trips into the economics of food and healthy living Today however the network is primarily known for splashy celebrity chefs and spirited competition shows These new essays explore how the Food Network came to be known for consistently providing comforting programming that offers an escape from reality where the storyline is just as important as the food that is being created It dissects some of the biggest personalities that emerged from the Food Network itself such as Guy Fieri and offers a critical examination of a variety of chefs feminisms and the complicated nature of success Some writers posit that the Food Network is creating an engaging important dialogue about modes of instruction and education and others analyze how the Food Network presents locality and place through the sharing of food culture with the viewing public This book will bring together these threads as it explores the rise development and unique adaptability of the Food Network

Research Methods for Anthropological Studies of Food and Nutrition Janet Chrzan, John Brett, 2017-02-01 The dramatic increase in all things food in popular and academic fields during the last two decades has generated a diverse and dynamic set of approaches for understanding the complex relationships and interactions that determine how people eat and how diet affects culture These volumes offer a comprehensive reference for students and established scholars interested in food and nutrition research in Nutritional and Biological Anthropology Archaeology Socio Cultural and Linguistic Anthropology Food Studies and Applied Public Health
