International Handbook of Interpretation in Educational Research Paul Smeyers,David Bridges,Nicholas C. Burbules,Morwenna Griffiths,2015-01-06 This handbook focuses on the often neglected dimension of interpretation in educational research It argues that all educational research is in some sense interpretive and that understanding this issue belies some usual dualisms of thought and practice such as the sharp dichotomy between qualitative and quantitative research Interpretation extends from the very framing of the research task through the sources which constitute the data the process of their recording representation and analysis to the way in which the research is finally or provisionally presented The thesis of the handbook is that interpretation cuts across the fields both philosophically organizationally and methodologically By covering a comprehensive range of research approaches and methodologies the handbook gives early career researchers what they need to know in order to decide what particular methods can offer for various educational research contexts fields An extensive overview includes concrete examples of different kinds of research not limited for example to teaching and learning examples as present in the Anglo Saxon tradition but including as well what in the German Continental tradition is labelled p dagogisch examples from child rearing and other contexts of non formal education with full description and explanation of why these were chosen in particular circumstances and reflection on the wisdom or otherwise of the choice combined in each case with consideration of the role of interpretation in the process The handbook includes examples of a large number of methods traditionally classified as qualitative interpretive and quantitative used across the area of the study of education Examples are drawn from across the globe thus exemplifying the different opportunities and constraints that educational research has to confront in different societies      Locating the Past / Discovering the Present David Gay, Stephen R. Reimer, 2010-07-30 This collection examines the production and recreation of religious ideas and images in different times and locations achieving a comparative perspective on the transmission of religious influences The essayists look at contact and conflict between insiders and outsiders centres and margins Jews and Christians Slavs and Greeks and ancient ritual behaviours and modern television broadcasting as part of the negotiation of new identity positions relationships and accommodations The book combines the disciplines of literary studies cultural studies art history religion history and critical theory making it an important resource to a range of scholars as well as non specialists      Gender and Sexual Dissidence on Catalan and Spanish Television Series Silvia Grassi, 2016-09-23 Taking as a starting point an interpretation of the television medium as an Ideological State Apparatus this book examines how gender roles and non heteronormative sexualities are constructed in Spanish and Catalan television series In the first part which focuses on the construction of gender roles in Catalan soap operas it applies the analytical paradigms founded by Anglo Saxon feminist scholars for the content of soap operas to a corpus of material which has rarely been analysed through this perspective In the second part which focuses on the construction of non heteronormative sexualities in Spanish and Catalan television series the book challenges the rhetoric of normalisation and the essentialist paradigms which have so far dominated the examination of the construction of sexuality in television series As such this book addresses the role performed by television in the construction of meanings which surround gender issues and non heteronormative sexualities This is a timely exercise because gender studies and studies of sexual dissidence are fairly recent fields in Spanish and Catalan academia and television has been largely disregarded especially as far as the analysis of characters and storylines is concerned As a result this book represents a major contribution to these fields in the Spanish and Catalan contexts      Speaking Pictures Alistair Fox, 2016-03-21 A new way to understand the human longing for stories informed by both neuroscience and psychoanalytic theory In this book Alistair Fox presents a theory of literary and cinematic representation through the lens of neurological and cognitive science in order to understand the origins of storytelling and our desire for fictional worlds Fox contends that fiction is deeply shaped by emotions and the human capacity for metaphorical thought Literary and moving images bridge emotional response with the cognitive side of the brain In a radical move to link the neurosciences with psychoanalysis Fox foregrounds the interpretive experience as a way to reach personal emotional equilibrium by working through autobiographical issues within a fictive form      The Ashgate Research Companion to Heritage and Identity Professor Brian Graham, Professor Peter Howard, 2012-11-28 Heritage represents the meanings and representations conveyed in the present day upon artifacts landscapes mythologies memories and traditions from the past It is a key element in the shaping of identities particularly in the context of increasingly multicultural societies This Research Companion brings together an international team of authors to discuss the concepts ideas and practices that inform the entwining of heritage and identity They have assembled a wide geographical range of examples and interpret them through a number of disciplinary lenses that include geography history museum and heritage studies archaeology art history history anthropology and media studies This outstanding companion offers scholars and graduate students a thoroughly up to date guide to current thinking and a comprehensive reference to this growing field

Interrogating Integration Kate Zambon, 2025-04-14 Interrogating Integration explores how international sporting spectacles media campaigns and public debates construct racialized national identity in an era of rising right wing nationalism Across Europe integration has emerged as a guiding concept to regulate cultural differences particularly in Germany where integration became a watchword after the introduction of birthright citizenship in 2000 The legal expansion of German citizenship threatened the homogeneous definition of the nation and spurred increased scrutiny of immigrants and Germans of color primarily Muslim and Black Germans This opened a new chapter in the long struggle over German identity The celebrations scandals and debates analyzed here reveal how the admission of new citizens inspired an optimistic cosmopolitanism that claimed to differentiate the new Germany from its fascist past while simultaneously reinscribing racialized hierarchies and providing fuel for rising far right politics Using touchstones of public memory including events surrounding men's World Cup soccer and the record breaking success of a book blaming Muslims for Germany's decline Zambon examines persistent problems in European conceptions of race where racializing projects take place under an ideology of racelessness and the atrocities of historical and transnational racisms are used to deny current local forms of racism
