Dario Cottafova, Daniel Torchia, Stefania Camoletto, Laura Corazza, 2024-04-04 This book analyses the seminal role of megaprojects for sustainable development and the related complex challenges they bring It provides insights into the growing social responsibilities that megaprojects have not only to be environmentally sustainable but also towards the multitude of stakeholders involved whether directly or indirectly After an historical overview of the increasingly necessary links between sustainable infrastructure and megaprojects the book builds on and applies stakeholder theory to stakeholder engagement and management in megaprojects It also emphasizes the importance of building impact assessment frameworks that consider the unheard voices that are often passively sitting at the receiving end of a megaproject as well as the local context where the megaproject is embedded The book then proceeds to analyse the case of a very contested transnational railway megaproject between Italy and France the Turin Lyon high speed railway which has been suffering from stakeholder and communication issues for over thirty years as well as from notable managerial and legal differences in the two countries. In this way the book informs both theory and practice and encourages scholarly interventions into wicked problems. It contains a comprehensive review of the academic literature on the sustainability challenges and sustainability reporting of megaprojects. Conceptual models, frameworks and future research opportunities are provided to clarify the empirical challenges and highlight the gaps and opportunities to be explored by researchers and practitioners in future. The audience for the book is both academic researchers and practitioners in the field of megaprojects and more specifically those dealing with managing transnational megaprojects. It also includes several topics that will be of interest to policy and decision makers.

An Interdisciplinary Approach for Disaster Resilience and Sustainability Indrajit Pal, Jason von Meding, Sangam Shrestha, Iftekhar Ahmed, Thayaparan Gajendran, 2019-10-17. This book includes selected papers presented at the international expert forum on Mainstreaming Resilience and Disaster Risk Reduction in Education held at the Asian Institute of Technology, Thailand on 12 December 2017. The journey towards disaster risk reduction and resilience requires the participation of a wide array of stakeholders ranging from academics to policymakers to disaster managers. Given the multifaceted and interdependent nature of disasters, disaster risk reduction and resilience require a multidisciplinary problem-solving approach and evidence-based techniques from the natural, social, engineering and other relevant sciences. Traditionally, hazard and disaster-related studies have been dominated by the engineering and social science fields. In this regard, the main purpose of this book is to capture the multidisciplinary and multisectoral nature of disaster risk reduction and to gather existing data, research, conceptual work and practical cases regarding risk reduction and its ties to sustainable development under a single umbrella. Along with the sustainability aspect, the book also links disaster risk reduction with development, technology, governance, education and climate change and includes discussions on challenges, solutions and best practices in the mainstreaming of disaster risk reduction.

Handbook of Environmental Risk Assessment and Management Peter P. Calow, 2009-07-08. At the heart of environmental protection is risk assessment: the likelihood of pollution from accidents, the likelihood of problems from normal and abnormal operation of industrial processes, the likely impacts associated with new synthetic chemicals and so on. Currently, risk assessment has been very much in the news: the risks from BSE and E. coli and the public perception of risks from nuclear waste etc. This new publication explains how scientific methodologies are used to assess risk from human activities and the resultant objects and wastes on people and the environment. Understanding such risks supplies crucial information to frame legislation, manage major habitats, businesses and industries and create development programmes. Unique in combining the science of risk assessment with the development of management strategies. Covers science and social science, politics, economics, psychology aspects. Very timely. Risk assessment lies at the heart of decision-making in various topical environmental questions: BSE, Brent Spar, nuclear waste.
