Oleson, 2016-09-06 For years criminologists have studied the relationship between crime and below average intelligence concluding that offenders possess IQ scores 8 10 points below those of non offenders Little however is known about the criminal behavior of those with above average IQ scores This book provides some of the first empirical information about the self reported crimes of people with genius level IQ scores Combining quantitative data from 72 different offenses with qualitative data from 44 follow up interviews this book describes the nature of high IQ crime while shedding light on a population of offenders often ignored in research and sensationalized in media

From Water to Wine Jess Auerbach, 2020-02-18 From Water to Wine explores how Angola has changed since the end of its civil war in 2002 Its focus is the middle class defined in the book as those with a house a car and an education and their consumption aspirations and hopes for their families It is a book that takes as its starting point what is working in Angola rather than what is going wrong and makes a deliberate political choice to give attention to beauty and happiness in everyday life in a country that has had an unusually troubled history The book is uniquely structured each chapter focuses on one of the five senses smell touch taste hearing and sight respectively with the introduction and conclusion provoking reflection on proprioception kinesthesia and empathy respectively A variety of media are employed poetry recipes photos comics and other textual experiments to engage readers and the senses Written for a broad audience this text is an excellent addition to classes on Africa the Lusophone world international development sensory ethnography and ethnographic writing

The Game Hannah Pool, 2025-06-04 To seek asylum people often have to cross borders undocumented embarking on perilous trajectories Due to the war in Afghanistan the rule of the Taliban and severe human rights violations over the past decades thousands of people have risked their lives to seek safety By what means do they make these journeys especially when they lack money and passports Over the course of three years Hannah Pool accompanied a group of Afghan friends and families as they attempted The Game Game zadan the route to Europe to seek asylum The resulting ethnography follows them across their entire trajectories through Iran Turkey Greece and along the so called Balkan route In each place Pool details the economic interactions and social relationships essential for acquiring saving borrowing spending and exchanging money to facilitate their undocumented migration routes The Game bridges economic sociology and migration studies to illustrate how migrants decide to trust people to facilitate their movement along these routes focusing particularly on debt special monies bribes donations and gift giving Throughout the migration trajectory relationships with family fellow migrants smugglers humanitarian actors and border control officials shape and are shaped by access to financial resources Ultimately the book highlights the dangers in undocumented border crossing and delves into the core of what it means to flee Who has the means to escape dangerous conditions to seek asylum

Class, Gender and Migration María Eugenia D'Aubeterre Buznego, Alison Elizabeth Lee, María Leticia Rivermar Pérez, 2020-06-07 Using a gender sensitive political economy approach this book analyzes the emergence of new migration patterns between Central Mexico and the East Coast of the United States in the last decades of the twentieth century and return migration during and after the global economic crisis of 2007 Based on ethnographic research carried out over a decade details of the lives of women and men from two rural communities reveal how neoliberal economic restructuring led to the deterioration of livelihoods starting in the 1980s Similar restructuring processes in the United States opened up opportunities for Mexican workers to labor in US industries that relied heavily on undocumented workers to sustain their profits and grow When the Great Recession hit in the context of increasingly restrictive immigration policies some immigrants were more likely to return to Mexico than others This longitudinal study demonstrates how the interconnections among class and gender are key to understanding who stayed and who returned to Mexico during and after the global economic crisis Through these case studies the authors comment more widely on how neoliberalism has affected the livelihoods and aspirations of the working classes This book will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners in migration studies gender studies politics and more broadly to international relations anthropology development studies and human geography Neon Wasteland Susan Dewey,2011-02-07 This path breaking book examines the lives of five topless dancers in the economically devastated rust belt of upstate New York With insight and empathy Susan Dewey shows how these women negotiate their lives as parents employees and family members while working in a profession widely regarded as incompatible with motherhood and fidelity Neither disparaging nor romanticizing her subjects Dewey investigates the complicated dynamic of performance resilience economic need and emotional vulnerability that comprises the life of a stripper An accessibly written text that uses academic theories and methods to make sense of feminized labor Neon Wasteland shows that sex work is part of the learned process by which some women come to believe that their self esteem material worth and possibilities for life improvement are invested in their bodies Participatory Visual and Digital Methods Aline Gubrium,Krista Harper,2016-06-16 Gubrium and Harper provide instruction in visual and digital methodologies and show how they can contribute to building a participatory public engaged ethnography Casualties of Care Miriam I. Ticktin,2011-07-30 Casualties of Care is a well crafted intelligent and carefully argued study of the social and policy effects of a seemingly benevolent set of humanitarian practices used in the French immigration and asylum processes One of the leading anthropologists of humanitarianism Miriam Ticktin is well placed to write this definitive study having undertaken nearly ten years of thorough ethnographic research in France Her research findings draw from ethnographic interviews and participant observation as well as broader more structural data on the movement of foreign labor within the French economy Richard Ashby Wilson Gladstein Chair of Human Rights University of Connecticut Ticktin cuts to the heart of contemporary concerns speaking provocatively and incisively about humanitarianism and security through the topic of immigration Peter Redfield Associate Professor of Anthropology at the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill Writing Culture and the Life of Anthropology Orin Starn,2015-05-09 Using the influential and field changing Writing Culture as a point of departure the thirteen essays in Writing Culture and the Life of Anthropology address anthropology s past present and future The contributors all leading figures in anthropology today reflect back on the writing culture movement of the 1980s consider its influences on ethnographic research and writing and debate what counts as ethnography in a post Writing Culture era They address questions of ethnographic method new forms the presentation of research might take and the anthropologist s role Exploring themes such as late industrialism precarity violence science and technology globalization and the non human world this book is essential reading for those looking to understand the current state of anthropology and its possibilities going forward

Narkomania Jennifer J. Carroll, 2019-06-15 Against the backdrop of a post Soviet state set aflame by geopolitical conflict and violent revolution Narkomania considers whether substance use disorders are everywhere the same and whether our responses to drug use presuppose what kind of people those who use drugs really are Jennifer J Carroll's ethnography is a story about public health and international efforts to quell the spread of HIV Carroll focuses on Ukraine where the prevalence of HIV among people who use drugs is higher than in parts of sub Saharan Africa and unpacks the arguments and myths surrounding medication assisted treatment MAT in Ukraine What she presents in Narkomania forces us to question drug policy its uses and its effects on normal citizens Carroll uses her findings to explore what people who use drugs can teach us about the contemporary societies emerging in post Soviet space With examples of how MAT has been politicized how drug use has been tied to ideas of good citizenship and how vigilantism towards people who use drugs has occurred Narkomania details the cultural and historical backstory of the situation in Ukraine Carroll reveals how global efforts supporting MAT in Ukraine allow the ideas surrounding MAT drug use and HIV to resonate more broadly into international politics and echo into the heart of the Ukrainian public

Jailcare Carolyn Sufrin, 2017-05-23 Thousands of pregnant women pass through our nation's jails every year What happens to them as they carry their pregnancies in a space of punishment In this time when the public safety net is frayed incarceration has become a central and racialized strategy for managing the poor Using her ethnographic fieldwork and clinical work as an ob gyn in a women's jail Carolyn Sufrin explores how jail has paradoxically become a place where women can find care Focusing on the experiences of incarcerated pregnant women as well as on the practices of the jail guards and health providers who care for them Jailcare describes the contradictory ways that care and maternal identity emerge within a punitive space presumed to be devoid of care Sufrin argues that jail is not simply a disciplinary institution that serves to punish Rather when understood in the context of the poverty addiction violence and racial oppression that characterize these women's lives and their reproduction jail can become a safety net for women on the margins of society
