

Paper grades

An introduction to paper grades

Understanding paper grades can be overwhelming, especially if you are new to the industry. There are hundreds - if not thousands - of varieties of paper products. Grades can be categorized by basis weight, category, manufacturer, region, along with many other attributes. Don't worry. You can learn to identify the most common grades without feeling like you're learning a new language. This cheat sheet is a great start.

Risi Pulp And Paper:

Green Chemistry and Sustainability in Pulp and Paper Industry Pratima Bajpai, 2015-06-23 This book features in depth and thorough coverage of Minimum Impact Mill Technologies which can meet the environmental challenges of the pulp and paper industry and also discusses Mills and Fiberlines that encompass State of the Art technology and management practices The minimum impact mill does not mean zero effluent nor is it exclusive to one bleaching concept It is a much bigger concept which means that significant progress must be made in the following areas Water Management Internal Chemical Management Energy Management Control and Discharge of Non Process Elements and Removal of Hazardous Pollutants At the moment there is no bleached kraft pulp mill operating with zero effluent With the rise in environmental awareness due to the lobbying by environmental organizations and with increased government regulation there is now a trend towards sustainability in the pulp and paper industry Sustainable pulp and paper manufacturing requires a holistic view of the manufacturing process During the last decade there have been revolutionary technical developments in pulping bleaching and chemical recovery technology These developments have made it possible to further reduce loads in effluents and airborne emissions Thus there has been a strong progress towards minimum impact mills in the pulp and paper industry The minimum impact mill is a holistic manufacturing concept that encompasses environmental management systems compliance with environmental laws and regulations and manufacturing technologies Research Paper FPL-RP, 1986

Preistreiber auf volatilen Märkten - eine empirische Analyse am Beispiel des internationalen Papiermarkts Sebastian Schmidt, 2010-05-31 Inhaltsangabe Einleitung Zeitungen Magazine Kopierpapier Taschentuch Toilettenpapier Verpackungen Geldscheine etc nahezu jeder Mensch kennt diese und weitere Papierprodukte und kommt beinahe täglich mit ihnen in Kontakt Jedoch werden sich die wenigsten von ihnen ernsthaft Gedanken darüber machen woher das Produkt stammt wie der Preis für die jeweiligen Papierarten zustande kommt und wer oder was die Preise beeinflusst Aber gerade bei einem so volatilen Markt wie dem internationalen Papiermarkt ist es interessant zu erfahren welche Faktoren die Preise treiben Vor allem da sich die nationale und internationale Papierindustrie häufig als Konjunktur Indikator eignet denn die Branche ist stark von der Wirtschaftskonjunktur abhängig Als aktuelles Beispiel kann die noch andauernde Weltwirtschaftskrise gelten die in den USA ihren Ursprung hatte Mit dem Abschwung der US amerikanischen Wirtschaft und den daraus entstandenen finanziellen Problemen für viele Verbraucher sank die allgemeine Nachfrage nach vielen Papier und Verpackungsprodukten Hierdurch entstand eine Papierkrise welche sich zu einem globalen Problem für die Papierindustrie entwickelte Mit der allgemein nachlassenden Nachfrage gingen die Gewinne der Unternehmen zurück und schlussendlich auch die Erzeugerpreise sowie die Produktionsniveaus Dabei sah es fast ein Jahr zuvor alles andere als schlecht für die globale Papierindustrie aus Anfang 2008 lagen die Marktpreise in vielen Marktsegmenten auf Rekordniveau Dieses extreme Beispiel zeigt wie schnell sich die Preise auf dem Markt verändern können Es lässt sich zudem daraus schließen dass Papierprodukte auch als eine Art Wohlstandsindikator zu sehen sind. Geht es den Menschen gut, fragen sie viele Güter aus Papier nach. Im anderen Fall nimmt die Nachfrage entsprechend ab. In Anbetracht dessen dürfte es für den globalen Papiermarkt und seine Nachfrager von Interesse sein, wer oder was die wirklichen Treiber der Preise sind. Dies würde zum einen Informationsasymmetrien zwischen beiden Parteien abbauen und zum anderen könnten Frühindikatoren bzw. ein Frühwarnsystem entwickelt werden, welches die Preisschwankungen genauer voraussagen oder sie eingrenzen könnte. Vor allem für Produzenten und Händler ist eine Lokalisierung der wahren Treiber wichtig, da sie anhand dieser Informationen ihre Produktions- und Absatzplanung besser und gewinnbringender gestalten können. Das ist der Ausgangspunkt für diese Arbeit.

Timber Outlook Peter J. Ince, 1994 Timber Peter Dauvergne, Jane Lister, 2013-04-25 Timber is a vital resource that is all around us. It is the house that shelters us, the furniture we relax in, the books we read, the paper we print, the disposable diapers for our babies, and the boxes that contain our cereal, detergent, and new appliances. The way we produce and consume timber, however, is changing. With international timber companies and big box discount retailers increasingly controlling through global commodity chains where and how much timber is traded, the world's remaining old growth forests, particularly in the developing world, are under threat of disappearing all for the price of a consumer bargain. This trailblazing book is the first to expose what's happening inside corporate commodity chains with conclusions that fundamentally challenge our understanding of how and why deforestation persists. Authors Peter Dauvergne and Jane Lister reveal how timber now moves through long and complex supply chains from the forests of the global South through the factories of emerging economies like China to the big box retail shelves of Europe and North America. Well-off consumers are getting unprecedented deals. But the social and environmental costs are extraordinarily high as corporations mine the world's poorest regions and most vulnerable ecosystems. The growing power of big retail within these commodity chains is further increasing South-North inequities and unsustainable global consumption. Yet as this book's highly original analysis uncovers, it is also creating some intriguing opportunities to promote more responsible business practices and better global forest governance. PIMA's ...
Papermaker, 1999 Wood Fibres for Papermaking Maria Cristina Area, 2014-05-06 Firs and pines dominated the global picture of the raw materials for paper industry until the 1950s. At that time the interest in introducing new species, mostly hardwoods, led the researchers intensify efforts to look for the fibrous characteristics and their combinations that could represent the relationship between fibres, pulp, and paper. The pulp and paper industry has shown, mainly in the last two decades, a strong North-South displacement. This is to a large extent due to the favourable climate which promotes the development of the trees. Similarly, the paper fibres have gone from being almost exclusively softwoods from natural forests of the Northern Hemisphere, cold regions such as spruce and fir, to fast-growing species of short fibres such as eucalyptus and willow and poplar hybrids from plantations These new species that begin to dominate the paper panorama not only differ from classic ones in fibre length but they present particular characteristics like large amounts of juvenile wood different fibrillar angle and so on because trees are used increasingly at younger age This leads us to question whether the old paradigms concerning the relationships between fibres characteristics and pulp properties are still valid or should be reviewed and updated in which case the basic fibre parameters their influence in pulping and refining and their impact on paper quality should be redefined To establish the state of the art on the topic this book analyses the publications of the last decade to verify the morphological characteristics of the fibres which are nowadays considered relevant Relatively recent data were surveyed because of the continuous changes that occur in the species by genetic improvement The Global Forest Sector Eric Hansen,Rajat Panwar,Richard Vlosky,2013-12-04 Changes in production demand supply and trade patterns the impact of green building and bioenergy on industry practices and policy infrastructure and new economies with production advantages and large consumption bases all present challenges and opportunities in the forest sector With contributions from leading experts in academia and profess Periodica Chimica Maximilian Pflücke,Alice Hawelek,2022-02-07 Keine ausf hrliche Beschreibung f r Periodica Chimica verf gbar Resource and Market Projections for Forest Policy Development Darius M. brought down the Soviet economy and that many companies after privatisation work as typical western companies Another belief is that Russia has adopted a market economy but then reverted to authoritarianism With these two ideas in mind this book discusses the suggestion that the key element of post Soviet economic and political reforms in the last two decades was the redistribution of assets from the state to oligarchs and the new elite It looks at why most Russian companies could not achieve strong long run corporate performance by analysing in detail a range of different Russian companies The book is a useful tool for understanding the future prospects for Russian business

Post-Consumer Waste Recycling and Optimal Production Enri Damanhuri,2012-05-23 This book deals with several aspects of waste material recycling It is divided into three sections The first section explains the roles of stakeholders both informal and formal sectors in post consumer waste activities It also discusses waste collection programs for recycling The second section discusses the analysis tools for recycling system The third section focuses on the recycling process and optimal production I hope that this book will convey both the need and means for recycling and resource conservation activities to a wide readership at both academician and professional level and contribute to the creation of a sound material cycle society
