Real Writing Mitchell Nobis, Daniel Laird, Carrie Nobis, Dawn Reed, Dirk Schulze, 2016-09-23 High school writing prompts often ask students to provide overly simplified responses to complicated issues but a person's stance in the real world can rarely if ever be reduced to agree or disagree. Arguments are complex with more than two points of view and a range of evidence to consider. However, writing classes don't always embrace that complexity. Real Writing Modernizing the Old School Essay contends that engaging fully with complex texts and difficult nuanced arguments helps students become better thinkers and writers more fully prepared for life both in and after high school. By offering students current texts to read and issues to discuss, teachers introduce their students to more complex arguments. Real Writing Modernizing the Old School Essay recognizes the value of various types of texts but the need for contemporary readings in our literature and composition classes is important for relevancy related to student engagement, the Common Core State Standards, and participation in our democratic society. This book shares curricular moves to engage students in reading and writing authentic arguments.

They are also rethinking their pedagogy as they consider ways to approach texts that are outside the usual fare of secondary literature classrooms. The Third Edition of Critical Encounters in Secondary English provides an integrated approach to incorporating nonfiction and informational texts into the literature classroom. Grounded in solid theory with new field tested classroom activities, this new edition shows teachers how to adapt practices that have always defined good pedagogy to the new generation of standards for literature instruction. New for the Third Edition A new preface and new introduction that discusses the CCSS and their implications for literature instruction. Lists of nonfiction texts at the end of each chapter related to the critical lens described in that chapter A new chapter on new historicism a critical lens uniquely suited to interpreting nonfiction and informational sources New classroom activities created and field tested specifically for use with nonfiction texts Additional activities that demonstrate how informational texts can be used in conjunction with traditional literary texts What a smart and useful book Mike Rose University of California Los Angeles This book has enriched my understanding both of teaching literature and of how I read I know of no other book quite like it Michael W Smith Temple University College of Education I have recommended Critical Encounters to every group of preservice and practicing teachers that I have taught or worked with and I will continue to do so Ernest Morrell director of the Institute for Urban and Minority Education IUME Teachers College Columbia University Raising Race Questions Ali Michael, 2015 Conversations about race can be confusing contentious and frightening particularly for White people Even just asking questions about race can be scary because we are afraid of what our questions might reveal about our ignorance or bias Raising Race Questions invites teachers to use inquiry as a way to develop sustained engagement with challenging racial questions and to do so in community so that they learn how common their questions actually are It lays out both a process for getting to questions that lead to growth and change as well as a vision for where engagement with race questions might lead Race questions are not meant to lead us into a quagmire of guilt discomfort or isolation Sustained race inquiry is meant to lead to anti racist classrooms positive racial identities and a restoration of the wholeness of spirit and community that racism undermines Book Features Case studies of expert and experienced White teachers who still have questions about race Approaches for talking about race in the K 12 classroom Strategies for facilitating race conversations among adults A variety of different resources useful in the teacher inquiry groups described in the book Research with teachers not on teachers including written responses from each teacher whose classroom is featured in the book In Raising Race Questions Ali Michael is an excavator determined to dig into every unexplored crevice of White teachers experiences with race in order to unearth the complex realities of racism and schooling and a model of reflective inquiry willing to lay herself and her assumptions bare in service to the reader s consciousness and her own This book grew my consciousness in multiple ways and that is the greatest gift an author can give me Paul Gorski founder EdChange associate professor George Mason University Ali Michael has a gift for getting people talking This must read book captures her magic and shares useful strategies for teachers and schools working to develop their racial proficiency As a White teacher engaged in this work I ve watched these tools help educators support one another as they make mistakes reflect and grow together Lynn Eckerman Teacher Independence Charter School Philadelphia PA Homeless in High School Dennis S. Carroll, 2013-08-28 Frightened by the fighting in their families two teenage lovers realize in Homeless in High School that theyre treated better by each others parents Hoping for improvement Marshall and Melissa switch their houses but discover further quarrels and disintegrating marriages Backed into a corner they mature in a hurry when they turn into the grown ups raising their adopted parents Hard headed and precocious but believable they become the models of maturity that they cant find at home in many famous adolescent novels and in cultural struggles over teenage abstinence or promiscuity Theyre befriended by a wise irreverent English teacher who admires in them what he has never witnessed in the so called classics that hes taught for decades Writing their own Declaration of Independence they confront demoralizing marriages and restore their families They become relentless laying down conditions for returning home including mandatory counseling and an end to terrifying quarrels Showing empathy and ingenuity they offer an example of maturity not only for their foster parents but also for teenagers Homeless in High School is a cross between a novel and a screen play It has the readability of a well written novel but the energy of a first rate film in 80 swiftly moving scenes The reader will be hooked immediately as Marshall and Melissa switch their homes and find their foster parents totally bewildered to discover that theyve been adopted by each others children
