How Real Is Race? Carol C. Mukhopadhyay, Rosemary Henze, Yolanda T. Moses, 2025-03-14 Biologically speaking there is no such thing as race Yet this seems to contradict the experiences of people in the United States and other countries where racial classification is used daily by individuals and institutions Race still matters whether in wealth accumulation educational achievement health the legal system or in personal safety How can race not be real when we experience its effects every day Mukhopadhyay Henze and Moses systematically deconstruct the myth of race as biology and address the reality of race as a cultural invention drawing on biocultural historical and cross cultural anthropological perspectives In doing so they shed light on the intricate interplay among race biology culture power and stratification Part I The Fallacy of Race as Biology unravels the myth that races are biologically valid divisions of humanity Part II Culture Creates Race explores race as a social construction the emergence of the racial worldview as ideological justification for inequality and how social processes especially restrictions on interracial sex and marriage maintained visible markers of racial hierarchy Part III Contemporary Issues examines current manifestations of racial stratification including the educational achievement gap health disparities and how the language of race embodies and reinforces a racial worldview
