Geek Sublime Vikram Chandra, 2013-11-21 A great novelist on his twin obsessions writing and coding What is the relationship between the two Is there such a thing as the sublime in code Can we ascribe beauty to the craft of coding Vikram Chandra is the award winning author of two acclaimed novels and a collection of short stories and has been a computer programmer for almost as long as he has been a writer In his extraordinary new book he looks at the connection between these two worlds of art and technology Coders are obsessed with elegance and style just as writers are but do the words mean the same thing to both And is it a coincidence that Chandra is drawn to two seemingly opposing ways of thinking Exploring these questions Chandra creates an idiosyncratic history of coding exploring such varied topics as logic gates and literary modernism the male machismo of geeks the striking presence of an Indian Mafia in Silicon Valley and the writings of Abhinavagupta the 10th 11th century Kashmiri thinker Part technology story and part memoir Geek Sublime is a book of sweeping ideas It is a heady and utterly original work Beats: Book Reviews 2014 Manuel Augusto Antão, 2015-03-06 What it means to me to be a critic reviewer For a lot of readers a reviewer or critic is an embittered failed novelist or worse a barely restrained serial rapist Book critics may take the form of a dilettante theorist essayist or even historian but almost never reviewers who sometimes lack the distancing from the text required by the demands of academia synthesis classical Indian rasa Popular Postcolonialisms Nadia Atia, Kate Houlden, 2018-07-04 Drawing together the insights of postcolonial scholarship and cultural studies Popular Postcolonialisms questions the place of the popular in the postcolonial paradigm Multidisciplinary in focus this collection explores the extent to which popular forms are infused with colonial logics and whether they can be employed by those advocating for change It considers a range of fiction film and non hegemonic cultural forms engaging with topics such as environmental change language activism and cultural imperialism alongside analysis of figures like Tarzan and Frankenstein Building on the work of cultural theorists it asks whether the popular is actually where elite conceptions of the world may best be challenged It also addresses middlebrow cultural production which has tended to be seen as antithetical to radical traditions asking whether this might in fact form an unlikely realm from which to question critique or challenge colonial tropes Examining the ways in which the imprint of colonial history is in evidence interrogated mythologized or sublimated within popular cultural production this book raises a series of speculative questions exploring the interrelation of the popular and the postcolonial Plato and the Nerd Edward Ashford Lee, 2018-10-09 How humans and technology evolve together in a creative partnership In this book Edward Ashford Lee makes a bold claim that the creators of digital technology have an unsurpassed medium for creativity Technology has advanced to the point where progress seems limited not by physical constraints but the human imagination Writing for both literate technologists and numerate humanists Lee makes a case for engineering creating technology as a deeply intellectual and fundamentally creative process Explaining why digital technology has been so transformative and so liberating Lee argues that the real power of technology stems from its partnership with humans Lee explores the ways that engineers use models and abstraction to build inventive artificial worlds and to give us things that we never dreamed of for example the ability to carry in our pockets everything humans have ever published But he also attempts to counter the runaway enthusiasm of some technology boosters who claim everything in the physical world is a computation that even such complex phenomena as human cognition are software operating on digital data Lee argues that the evidence for this is weak and the likelihood that nature has limited itself to processes that conform to today's notion of digital computation is remote Lee goes on to argue that artificial intelligence's goal of reproducing human cognitive functions in computers vastly underestimates the potential of computers In his view technology is coevolving with humans It augments our cognitive and physical capabilities while we nurture develop and propagate the technology itself Complementarity is more likely than competition Library Lin's Curated Collection of Superlative Nonfiction Linda Maxie, 2022-05-05 Trust a librarian to help you find books you'll want to read Library Lin's Curated Collection of Superlative Nonfiction is a librarian's A list of nonfiction books organized by subject area just like a library Linda Maxie Library Lin combed through 65 best books lists going back a century She reviewed tens of thousands of books sorted them according to the Dewey Decimal Classification system and selected an entire library's worth for you to browse without leaving home Here you'll find Summaries of outstanding titles in every subject Suggestions
